Two Die In Plane Crash At Coraopolis

(BULLETIN)

CORAOPOLIS, Pa., July 13.—Two men were burned to death today in the crash of a light plane at the Montour Country Club in Coraopolis Heights.

The plane, enroute from Youngstown to Pittsburgh, crashed in a ravine between the eighth and ninth holes and burst into flames.

The dead were identified as Willard Ronzone, treasurer of the Copperweld Steel Company, Warren, O., and a Mr. Bailey.

The pilot, John Lyden, was in serious condition in the Sewickley hospital. He was an airplane instrument instructor during the war and has about 8,000 hours of flying.

The crash was about a mile from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport. The plane is owned by Airways, Inc., which operates the Municipal Airport in Youngstown, O.

Night work continues along the course of new route 422 on the Butler road. A bulldozer was in operation along the new route Wednesday evening at 9:30 it was discovered by a member of the Pa Newc family who visited that section. The contractor has two eight hour shifts working along the right of way.

Some parking will have to eliminated in the vicinity of the two new traffic lights installed at Greenwood and Atlantic avenues on West Washington street if the lights are to be effective. While a lane of traffic traveling west is awaiting its turn to proceed into Atlantic avenue, cars going straight west are forced to wait until the Atlantic avenue traffic moves, due to cars parked on the north side of West Washington street, at some periods.

There were no fatalities according to first reports from the scene.

The passenger train struck a Soo line freight train head-on on the main line. Witnesses said the freight train had backed on a siding but its locomotive remained on the main track.

All of the passengers were members of the Ohio, Pennsylvania and Atlantic seaboard Hardware Associations. They were bound to Lake Louise, Banff, Canada, and then on to Seattle for their national convention.

'Peace' Offensive Petitions Are Work Of Reds Is Charge

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—House un-American Activities committee members charged today that the "peace" offensive launched by American communists is aimed at giving Russia time to catch up in atomic bomb production.

Reps. Kearney (R) N. Y., and Velde (R) Ill., cautioned "loyal American" against signing a "peace" petition being circulated by the campaign committee for world peace.

The committee itself is prepared to issue a formal report citing the latter organization as a communist-front.

Kearney said house investigators have "indisputable evidence" that the petition is the creation of the Communist party "to confuse and divide the American people and paralye their resistance to aggression."

The New Yorker estimated that nearly a million Americans have been "duped" into signing.

Now Indicate Second Draft Call Is Likely

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The Army indicated today that unless the Korean war situation shows great improvement a second draft call will be issued about October 1 for a much larger number of men than the 20,000 already ordered into uniform by that time.

A defense department spokesman said the official statement yesterday that "present plans" did not contemplate further resort to the draft had been "misinterpreted."

He said:

"The fact that there is no intention at present doesn't mean that a second call won't be issued. It just means that we haven't formulated our plans."

The spokesman added that unless voluntary enlistments show a rapid increase a second induction order will be issued.

Says North Koreans Will Be Driven Back

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—Former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson predicts the North Korean communists will be driven back to the 38th parallel boundary within six months.

Returning from a month-long trip to Europe, Patterson told newsmen, "when you suddenly plunge into action there may be days and even weeks before you get the situation in hand.

"But I have no doubt of the outcome. You throw in what troops you have available and the job then is to reinforce them immediately."

TWENTY KILLED

BERLIN, July 13.—(INS)—The German news agency DPA reported today that 20 persons were killed and 50 seriously injured in the collision of a German passenger train with a freight train near Zwickau, in the eastern province of Saxony.

Most of the casualties were reported to be uranium mine workers.

Communist Plan Is Aimed At American 'Dunkirk'

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Defense department said today that the over-all Communist strategic plan in Korea is "obviously" aimed at forcing an American "Dunkirk" at the Port of Pusan.

A spokesman disclosed that worldwide naval movements are under way to concentrate U. S. and United Nations strength where it can be rushed to the defense of the port, if a last-ditch fight becomes necessary.

Dispatches to Army headquarters in Washington emphasize that the three-division Communist thrust on Taejon, the provisional capital, is only one arm of the eventual threat to Pusan.

A second Communist Army, also three divisions strong, is moving down the other side of a range of mountains in Central Korea, from Chungju and Tanyang. The fall of both these towns was announced yesterday.

Time Is Big Factor

If each of these armies can advance approximately eighty miles, they will join at the rail center of Taegu and will stand sixty miles from Pusan with a combined force of possibly 75,000 to 100,000 men.

The military spokesman said that if the advances are executed within the next three or four weeks, it is unlikely that General MacArthur could have more than two American divisions—possibly 25,000 men—at Pusan to defend the port.

MacArthur has only four divisions under his command, and has emphasized in personal messages to headquarters that he cannot denude the defenses of Japan for the Korean operation.

The U. S. Marines, first fighting unit to be ordered out of the continental U. S., will not reach the Far East for at least another two and one-half weeks.

B-29 Bomber Is Shot Down

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The air force today announced the first loss of an American B-29 bomber in the Korean war.

The big bomber was shot down in the Seoul area. The entire crew, of either 11 or 12 men, bailed out.

The air force at the same time cast serious doubt on previous official reports that Russian jet fighters have appeared in action over Korea.

A spokesman said he assumed that the B-29 was shot down by conventional engined North Korean fighter planes.

Examination of the report of jets, he said, has rated it as "extremely doubtful, and not confirmed by the air force."

The Navy denied that the aircraft carrier Valley Forge has been sunk, and said it has been "in no action whatsoever since July 4." It is believed to have returned to Formosa.

PUBLISHER KILLED

INDIANA, Pa., July 13.—(INS)—B. Dwight Ray, co-publisher of the Indiana Evening Gazette, was killed today in a highway accident near Blacklick, a few miles from Indiana.

He died a short while after he was admitted to the Indiana hospital of injuries suffered when the automobile he was driving overturned on a sharp curve as he was returning from the opening yesterday of a new branch plant of the Syntron Company in Blairsville.

Bazookaman Stops Two Korean Tanks

AMERICAN ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 13.—(INS)—Pvt. John R. Lindemood, a bazookaman from Oklahoma, was credited today with stopping two North Korean communist tanks.

Pfc. Tommy Bishop, in the thick of fighting with Lindemood's battalion, is a veteran of the fighting in Germany and reported frankly: "It's a helluva lot rougher here."

Another member of the same battalion, Pvt. Freddie Pickens, of Columbus, Miss., said the enemy was charging against American defense lines "like flies".

Noted Tank Expert Assigned To Take Over Korean Task

—Acme Telephoto

LT. GEN. WALTON H. WALKER

By JOHN RICH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ADVANCE U. S. HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 13.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today assigned one of America's foremost tank experts to take over the tremendous task of stopping North Korea's armored communist forces.

He is Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. Eighth army. His World War II tank battles against Nazi panzer divisions turned carefully-planned German army strategy into confusion and earned him the Distinguished Service Cross.

Served with Gen. Patton

Much of Walker's ability stems from his wartime experience under the late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., a tank commander who never knew the meaning of the word "stop".

Gen. MacArthur ordered Walker to take command of beleaguered American forces in Korea beginning Wednesday—the 18th day of the North Korean communist invasion.

The Eighth army commander established advanced headquarters in Korea today, then flew back to Tokyo for secret war room confer-

Gen. MacArthur Pays Tribute To U.S. Troops

Says Heroism Of Troops In Korea Thwarted Blitz

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, July 14 — (Friday) —Gen. Douglas MacArthur today credited the heroism of outnumbered U.S. soldiers with thwarting a Communist blitz conquest of all South Korea as he disclosed a giant B-29 raid on North Korea to weaken the still advancing Red invasion avalanche.

The United Nations supreme commander, in a communique issued Friday shortly after midnight, announced further American and South Korean withdrawals Thursday in the face of "numerically superior" enemy forces and a wide Red flanking drive endangering the U. S. position on the Kum river.

The Communist armored divisions, MacArthur said, have thrown "enveloping forces" into an effort to "negotiate" the Taebok mountain passes and attempt to "break through between Taegu and Taejon."

This drive was earlier reported to have thrust spearheads within 44 miles of the lifeline behind the Americans on the Kum bend above Taejon.

Allied Air Strikes

MacArthur announced in his latest war bulletin that Thursday's Allied air strikes were paced by American B-29 Superfortresses, nearly 50 of which spilled 500 tons of bombs on a North Korean rail hub in the biggest raid of the Korean War now raging in its 20th day.

The supreme commander, in a special communique, declared that the brilliance and courage of over-

Nearly 50 B-29 Bombers Drop 500 Tons Of Bombs On North Korean Targets

By RUSSELL BRINES
(Representing Combined Allied Press)
(Distributed by International News Service)

TOKYO, July 14 — (Friday) —Nearly fifty B-29 Superfortresses plastered a key North Korean military target with five hundred tons of bombs today in the mightiest single air blow of the Korean campaign.

The mission inaugurated mass precision bombing by two groups of Superforts hurried to Tokyo from their west coast bases.

War trained crews flew the four-engined bombers from two Far Eastern bases through rain and mist for the largest mass bombing today of the campaign. The target was a railroad center north of the 38th parallel.

All Returned Safely

All of the planes and their eager youthful veterans returned safely without meeting opposition on the daylight raid.

It took exactly eight days to deliver the new punch—from the date overseas orders were first delivered to release of the bombs. In that time the men, their planes and most of their equipment were moved eight thousand miles and prepared for an air blow that meant a round trip of more than 1,500 milye.

Air officers in Tokyo said this proved the speed with which strategic bombing assignments can be carried out throughout the world.

One of the aircraft commanders, First Lt. James T. Patrick of Carnation, Wash., said it differently:

"This will make Uncle Joe sit up and take notice."

I was in Patrick's plane on an assignment representing the Combined Allied Press. But a few miles after getting our plane—and its twenty thousand pounds of bombs—off the ground, we had to turn back with a fault; engine.

Perfect Rendezvous

The remainder of the sleek bombers made a perfect overwater rendezvous and released their bombs at 11:02 a. m. Thursday (9:02 A. M. EDT Wednesday) through mist so thick that radar was used to sight the target.

Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosey) O'Donnell directed this first mission of his new command, the Far East Bomber Command (Provisional). The 43-year-old two-star general, once a West Point football coach, led the first World War II wartime B-29 raid on Japan.

About sixty per cent of the men in his new command are combat tested, veterans of thunderous pattern bombing missions from Ger-

Korean War Knocks Hope Of Tax Cuts

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The Korean war buried all hopes today of lower taxes this session of Congress and raised, instead, the prospect of higher levies if the conflict becomes more critical.

The administration reportedly has not decided yet whether it will need more money, but President Truman asked Congress to quit thinking about reducing taxes.

Congressional leaders do not believe, however, that any tax raise will come before the next session in January unless Congress is called into special session this fall.

Senate Finance Chairman George (D) Ga., may make a formal statement today confirming the fact that tax relief has been put on ice indefinitely.

New Wilmington Man To Embark For Korean Duty

Private John A. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of South Market street, New Wilmington, sent word to his parents that he received orders for Korean duty. His parents had expected him home on furlough and are leaving for Washington to attempt visiting him before he embarks.

Private Wilson entered the service last September when he got his basic training at Fort Dix, New Jersey. From there he was transferred to Fort Lewis in Washington State and attached to the second division of the Ninth Infantry Regiment.

American Casualty Report For Korean War Is Announced

TOKYO, July 13—(INS)—General Douglas MacArthur in a special communique tonight listed American casualties in the Korean war as 42 killed, 256 missing and 190 wounded.

The communique said the casualty figures were given to show that "losses sustained by American forces in Korea have been greatly exaggerated in press reports from the front."

LINER AGROUND

QUEBEC, July 13.—(INS)—An effort will be made today to refloat the 20,000-ton luxury liner Franconia which ran aground last night on the island of Orleans in the St. Lawrence river.

The Franconia, carrying 800 passengers, lifted its bow out of the water four miles north of Quebec city enroute to Liverpool.

The Cunard liner's bow was badly twisted. Two ferry boats and a Canadian government ice breaker evacuated passengers during the night.

Gen. Vandenberg At Korea Front

Decorates Airmen; Confers With Leaders

TOKYO, July 13.—(INS)—Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, flew to the Korean war front today and decorated a number of American airmen at a forward airfield.

His flight followed a series of conferences he attended immediately after he landed at Tokyo from Washington with Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff.

After a top-secret strategy meeting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Collins, the air force chief conferred with Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commander of the U. S. far east air forces, and officers of the FEAF staif.

An honor guard met Gen. Vandenberg at the makeshift airfield which is carrying a heavy burden of front-line aerial support work.

U.N. Flag Has Reached Japan

TOKYO, July 13.—(INS)—The blue and white flag of the United Nations soon will be flying in the ranks of armies fighting the communist invasion of Korea.

At the Tokyo headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of the U. N. armies in Korea, workmen set up an extra flagpole so that the UN banner can be flown to the left of the Stars and Stripes at the same level.

The UN flag was brought to Tokyo today by Gens. J. Lawton Collins and Hoyt Vandenberg, who came for high strategy conferences wtih MacArthur.

The plants are growing like hungry weeds, but leaves are what we are getting, there isn't much sign of the fruit as yet, no doubt from the long days of wetting. The beans are in blossom, tomatoes are too, but they ought to be doing much better, but the rain keeps on coming, the leaves keep on growing, the garden keeps on getting wetter. So listen my friend with the sprinkling can, the season begins to get late. And we're hungry for sweet corn tomatoes and such, the weather is seventy eight.

U.N. Policy On Ground Forces Is Indicated

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 13.—The United Nations favored today a policy under which only governments with large standing armies would be called on to move ground forces into the Korean battle.

Although a hard and fast decision on all military matters involving the unified command must await a directive from Supreme Commander Gen. Douglas MacArthur, it is understood to be the ruling opinion at U. N. top level that "token" ground units from a dozen countries might lead to confusion and impair operational efficiency in Korea.

Only Offer Known

Aside from the offer by Nationalist China of 33,000 crack troops now posted on Formosa, the U. N. has no knowledge of assertions in recent days by American senators that "several" governments have indicated their intention of taking such a step.

The United Nations, however, is content to let each government funnel military information and contributions directly to MacArthur through the U. S. However, the Canadian government requested Secretary General Trygve Lie to notify the unified command headquarters that three destroyers are en route to Korean waters.

An official count shows that 47 governments have pledged full support of the Security Council's sanctions resolution. The five Soviet bloc members have denounced it as illegal and Yugoslavia also opposes it.

The three golden balls used as a pawnbroker's sign were derived in early times from the arms of the Lombards, the merchant princes of Italy.

Life Term Is Given Woman

HONESDALE, Pa., July 13.—(INS)—Mrs. Bertha Lippert, 46 was sentenced to life imprisonment today in Wayne county court for her part in the shotgun slaying of her husband last December on their farm near Aldenville.

An accomplice, 19-year-old Leo Corby, was found guilty of second degree murder and sent to Eastern Penitentiary for seven and one-half to 15 years. In a confession Corby claimed he had been urged to fire the fatal shot by Mrs Lippert with whom he admitted illicit romance.

many to Japan. They were geared for battle today with alert confident eagerness.

"I wish they had forgotten my name this time," said S/Sgt. William M. Kofmehl of Spokane, Wash., tail gunner of our abortive flight and veteran of the European air war. "But mebbe it's better to get it over with now instead of getting pushed around all the time like we've been doing."

They know they had the planes and the experience to master this kind of war—and they know too what it was like for the infantrymen on the ground, most of them untested before two weeks ago, to be outnumbered and outgunned.

MOW THOSE GOPHERS DOWN!

VISALIA, Calif. — This clerk didn't know much about farming, but he sure was resourceful. So reports Angelo Jordan, a rancher, who asked a hardware store clerk for some gopher traps. The clerk said he was out, but suggested a lawnmower instead.

"You can cut their heads off while you mow the grass," he told the flabbergasted farmer.

GEN. MacARTHUR PAYS TRIBUTE TO U.S. TROOPS

whelmingly outmanned American troops had prevented the quick collapse of all South Korea before the Red onslaught. MacArthur proclaimed.

"The American ground units in Korea are fighting one of the most skillful and heroic holding and rearguard actions in history.

"They have filled the breach, without which the North Korean forces would have—long ere this—overrun and destroyed South Korea."

In a special communique issued after he had conferred with the staff chiefs of America's Army and Air Forces who flew to Tokyo from Washington, MacArthur pointed out that the U. S. troops have been "overwhelmingly outnumbered—in some instances more than 20 to 1."

Casualties Reported

Nevertheless, the supreme commander declared, the gallant Americans inflicted casualties on the Communist invaders "immeasurably greater than those they sustained." MacArthur listed 488 U. S. Army casualties—including 42 killed, 190 wounded and 256 missing. He said these figures show that the American troop losses "have been greatly exaggerated in press reports from the front."

America's famed mass precision bombing was introduced into the Korean war by two groups of Superforts, flown across the Pacific from the U. S. West Coast only eight days before they rained a million pound[illegible] on the North Korean rail center.

The shattering blow at one of the fountainheads of the Red invasion that h[illegible] engulfed more than half of South Korea was dealt in broad daylight, climaxing a 1,500-mile roundtrip for the four-engined B-29s from their new Far Eastern bases and return.

Score New Gains

The southward North Korean push from the Chungju-Tanyang, sector, northeast of the key American base of Taejon, scored smashing gains of 10 to 15 miles as it hurled two South Korean divisions into retreat.

Simultaneously, the Pyongyang Communist radio claimed the Red invaders captured the east coast city of Utchin an dare "pressing southward."

If true, this indicates the Communists have launched a wheeling offensive along an 80-mile front down the eastern side of South Korea, apparently aimed at folding up the entire right flank of the America[illegible] troops in the [illegible]st.

Utchin lies 80 air miles east of Chungju and 125 miles north of the vital supply port of Pusan on Korea's southeast tip.

The population of Berlin is 1,000,000 less than before the war, but the consumption of cigarettes is up 2,000,000 a year.

HOW

NEW YORK —(INS)—A famous New York anthropologist, Margaret Mead, evoked a thundering chorus of reply from housewives to statements she recently made. The noted woman scientist, who is associate curator of Ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History, said: "Even if she has five children, a wife should look the same before breakfast as she did when she was dressed for a date before she was married." Reporters, who querried housewives on the statement, said they got back this one-word refrain: "How?"

SOBRIETY REQUIRED

LOVINGTON, N. M. — B. F. Parker was fined $100 after pleading guilty to piloting a plane while intoxicated. Police Chief R. W. Hill said Parker was arrested after he "buzzed" Lovington at 200 feet.

ARE MODELS MODEL GIRLS?

—Acme Telephoto

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Harry Conover, who heads a big New York model agency and so speaks with some authority, bemoans the fact that most models have the "spook look," with hacked-off hair, emaciated faces and figures. He warns that grandma's going to be the nation's number one cover girl if young models don't make men happy by getting hippy again. Model Lydia Haug, left, typifies the slender model of today and model Grace Moran, right, a grandmother, displays the "fuller" glamor that Conover talks about. Says Mrs. Moran: "I'd rather have the poundage than look like a spook". Most men would agree with her about a woman's figure—but who says that men have any say in women's fashions?

LILLIAN F. MARTIN WEDS JOSEPH MAHER

A dainty gown of velveroy marquisette was worn by Miss Lillian Frances Martin as she became the bride of Joseph Paul Maher on Saturday, July 8.

The young couple pledged their wedding vows in the church of Christ the King, Ambridge, Pa., at 10 a.m., with Rev. Fr. E. A. Heinrich, uncle of the bride from Pittsburgh, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Martin is the daughter of Mrs. Genevieve C. Martin of Manning street, Ambridge, and the late Howard A. Martin. Mr. Maher is the son of Mrs. Mary T. Maher, Phillips Place, New Castle, and the late Thomas Maher.

The youthful bride chose her white gown styled with a fitted bodice enhanced by a bertha collar. Long sleeves tapered to points at the wrists. The flowing skirt of the charming creation ended in a short train. Her fingertip veil of net and lace cascaded from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book encrusted with a white orchid and lily of the valley. Her uncle, Joseph J. Shapert, gave her in marriage.

Miss Sofi Marlinga, cousin of the bride, attended the bride as maid of honor. She was attired in a white marquisette gown fashioned with a peplum and tiny round collar. A picture hat, trimmed with pink ribbon, and white nylon mitts completed the ensemble. Her bouquet was composed of pink roses and lily of the valley.

Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Koenig; Mrs. Laura Ross, aunt of the bride; and Miss Virginia Plofchan. Their gowns were of white organdy, and each wore a picture hat and mitts. Pink roses and lily of the valley made up their colonial bouquets.

Leo R. Maher served his brother as best man. Ushering were Joseph F. Shapert, cousin of the bride; William Maher, cousin of the groom; and Bernard R. Laut.

Immediately following the ceremony, a dinner was served to eighty guests and friends at the Christ the King hall. A reception for 250 persons was held at the hall at 8 o'clock. The cathedral train of the very full skirt was embellished with wide insets of imported lace with a scroll design and shirred at the hip, bustle effect. A fingertip veil of imported English illusion was trimmed with a wide band of scalloped lace which fell from a tiara of rhinestones and pearls.

Raws of Chantilly lace added to the gracefulness of the bouffant skirt. The filmy overskirt terminated in a long sweeping train. Her full length veil of silk illusion, trimmed with Chantilly lace, was caught by a headdress of rhinestones and pearls. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue. BATTLE OF WORDS

The proposal of Radio Corporation of America Chairman David Sarnoff to raise the pitch and intensity of this nation's air wave propaganda is a logical sequel to the "Marshall Plan of Words" resolution which is getting heavy backing in Washington. Mr. Sarnoff, who knows all about radio broadcasting, made his suggestion to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is hearing testimony on a resolution to combat communism by stepping up the campaign of truth.

Mr. Sarnoff pointed out that both the Russians and the British put a "better signal" into Latin America than this country does. Russians and Russian satellites are broadcasting their particular brand of lies and vituperation over the world a total of 832 program hours weekly. Britain is on the air 650 hours weekly. France manages to broadcast 200 hours a week, while U. S. facilities total only 192 hours a week.

It should also be pointed out that this U. S. output has only been arrived at recently. The amount of "Voice of America" air time hitherto had been considerably lower than this figure until Congress upped its budget again last winter.

There is little doubt of the dire need of a new approach to the battle of words, or new facilities, or both. Russia is blanketing the globe with details of the Southern "invasion" of the North and of this country's act of "aggression."

PICKING THE WINNERS

Out in the wide open spaces they say corn will be "knee-high by the middle of July." According to an old saw—the author of which no one seems to recall—the teams at the top of each of the major baseball leagues in mid-July will be the pennant winners come October.

Either of these whimsies is good depending on how you figure your odds and, of course, on whether or not your habitat is out where the corn grows or where the exhaust and smell of hot streets are life-giving fragrance.

But corn was knee-high—and more—at this time last year. Furthermore, the Dodgers and the Yanks were topping their respective leagues. And it was a "subway series" last fall.

And how about this year? Well, in the National League the Phillies are slightly ahead. In the American League Detroit is leading those perennials, the Yankees. One sports writer calls the Philadelphia Athletics the biggest balloon puncture of the year and blames the dismal showing on the collapse of the A's pithcing staff.

But then there was the year the Boston Braves started from the subbasement on the Fourth of July and wound up on top of the heap.

The wise one says any of the teams boasting a .500 or better average at this writing has a chance. That's a good safe way of looking at it.

THE POLIO SITUATION

Incidence of polio is expected to be less this year than last, according to reports to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. An intensive campaign of education is bearing fruit, and preventive measures are being applied more widely.

At this period last year there were several severe epidemics of polio. None comparable to these has been reported, although there are numerous cases in several states which escaped last year.

The foundation warns, however, that the polio season is still young. The hot dry months ahead are favorable to an increase of the disease. Parents are being constantly urged to observe several simple rules which have proven effective preventives in the past.

Children should avoid sudden chilling and fatigue, stay out of crowds, keep out of the hot sun, and take a nap in the middle of the day. Diets should be watched, hand washed before every meal, and at the slightest physical disturbance a physician should be called. And, above all, flies should be eliminated.

There's safety for youngsters in closely following these simple rules.

A-BOMB ATTACK NOT EXPECTED

Defense leaders in washington have little fear that the Korean crisis may bring an atom bomb attack on the United States by Russia, even if the Kremlin decides on all-out war.

In the first place, these officials do not believe the Russians have any substantial numb of A-bombs. Even if they did, the extreme difficulty of delivering one or more of them on United States targets probably would deter Moscow from running the risk of wasting bombs.

United States intelligence is certain that the longest range Russ bomber could fly only about 1,500 miles—at the very most—carry the five-ton A-bomb.

This range, if the flight started in Siberia nearest to the United States, would only permit an enemy bomber to reach the Canadian border—and all conditions would have to be perfect. This discounts, too, the likelihood that the approaching bomber would be picked up by the radar warning net.

A Colorado University professor says the 1950 census will reveal a surplus of women, thus making it harder for them to find husbands. Leave it to the government to count its chickens before they're matched.

One man, caught in a tornado, had his pockets turned inside out. As a taxpayer he probably had the same thing happen many times before.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

More Communist Propaganda

The old communist policy of dropping propaganda bombshells in widespread places of the world to sow confusion and disorder emerged clearly today with charges that the United States is planning a "Balkan slaughter".

At a time when main attention is focused on bloody Korea, the communist controlled Ceteka news agency has let loose with a blast directed at the United States and what it called Greek monarcho-fascists.."

According to the charges, plans have been completed for an assault on Albania.

This allegedly would be followed by action against the other Soviet satellites, the ultimate objective being war with the Soviet Union.

Has Ominous Ring

The broadcast, of course, had an ominous ring. It has become the fashion for totalitarian nations to arouse others of actual or planned aggression and then attack them.

But the general impression at the moment is that the communists want chiefly to upset and undermine the United States government and people.

They would like nothing better than an immediate relaxation of United Nations pressure in Korea, based upon fear that hostilities may break out in Europe.

World communism has an ingenious and intricate setup for accomplishment of its aims and the Kremlin has an uncanny way of appearing to stand just outside the fringes.

In the latest case, a Czech news agency broadcast what purported to be a resolution adopted by the so-called "free Greek movement"—the guerrilla forces which with aid from the satellites kept the Greek nation in a turmoil of civil war for months.

Another time, the world might be plunged into indecision by the outcome of a communist meeting in Warsaw or Bucharest, for example, or even by a speech in a country like France.

One Attack of Jitters

One attack of jitters which has not subsided entirely stemmed directly from an address by French communist leader Maurice Thorez. He said that the workers of France would not fight against the Soviet army if the Russians arrived on French soil to "liberate" them from "western imperialist domination".

Many comparisons have been drawn between aggressive methods of Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia.

But the communist system of touching off scares and sensations here and there over the face of the globe is really a far cry from the days when Adolf Hitler ruled as head man in Germany.

For years before the war, it was Hitler's practice to make speeches on Saturday afternoons and on major nazi anniversaries.

The whole world always awaited in fear and awe for these tirades. Sometimes he spoke for an hour, sometimes for two hours and sometimes three.

Same Old Attacks

Usually it was the same old attacks on American imperialism and war-mongering or assaults on alleged "British perfidy".

But he always took personal responsibilities for the big surprises. It was Hitler who told the world that he had torn up the treaty of Versailles and invaded the Rhineland.

It was Hitler who broke the news of Czechoslovakia and Austria.

And it was Hitler who stood before the rubber-stamp Reichstag, in his ill-fitting gray uniform and announced that his armies had invaded Poland, because of alleged Polish aggression, on the morning of September 1, 1939.

Things in this historic and worried year are surely different. Joseph Stalin is as silent as the tomb. Foreign Minister Vishinsky is supposed to be on vacation when millions of other people are wondering whether to go.

But there is no relaxation in the propaganda pressure. It bobs up here and it bobs up there. And almost invariably it achieves the desired purpose. A perplexed world is compelled to ask wearily: "What on earth now?"

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

ADVICE TO WEDDING GUEST

'My employer's daughter is to be married, and I am going to attend the wedding. Please advise me on the following: (1) Are the small wedding gift inclosure cards (with printed verse) in good taste? (2) Would it be in order for me as a guest to wear a corsage?"

Answer: (1) No. Use either your personal visiting card; or if you have none, use a plain white card with "best wishes" and your name on it. (2) No. Only the mothers of the bridal pair and members of the wedding party have flowers.

Question: My daughter has been formally engaged for a month. Her fiance's parents have not yet called on us, nor have we met them. Do you think we should invite them to see us?

Answer: They should have called on you right after the engagement announcement. Since they did not do so, you might invite them to dinner to meet you and your family. Suggest to your future son-in-law that he bring them over and in addition either write or telephone to his mother and extend your invitation.

Question: In the case of a large funeral, is it correct to send engraved cards acknowledging messages of condolence and flowers?

Answer: If the deceased was a prominent person, his family receiving innumerable impersonal messages of condolence, it is entirely permissible to send engraved cards of acknowledgment. Letters, no matter how brief, should be sent to friends who were kind enough to take time and effort to write notes of condolence or send flowers. Those who send cards may correctly receive cards in acknowledgment.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

THEY GET AROUND TO IT!

The Fair Dealers haven't socialized any industry in this country—yet. It is expected the planners will get around to that later. So far, they have socialized just about one-fourth of your gross income and that's a pretty good start. Maybe you prefer to have the government spend a fourth of all you take in—we don't—"Rockvill, Ind., Republican."

LANDSLIDE PREFERRED

The possibility of a landslide so intimidated the inhabitants of a little village that one couple decided to send their son, aged nine to an uncle until the danger had passed. Three days later they received a telegram: "Am returning boy. Please send landslide instead." "The Ness County, Kan., News."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

Most children don't get enough sleep; and during the summer months with daylight saving time in many places, and darkness coming so late, many young children don't go to bed early enough. Regardless of when they do go to bed or when the parents must rise, many young children awaken with the birds.

The teen-ager on the other hand may be hard to get up in the morning. But if he has a job he can't linger in bed as long as he likes or long enough to enable him to get ample sleep unless he goes to bed early enough. Or if he has no job and sleeps much later than his parents, he may cause his mother extra work.

Wise Guidance

Unless there has been wise guidance of the youth when he was much younger, he may not readily choose a reasonable bedtime hour. Some parents can, however, at times of comfortable relationship with the child over 12 or 14, lead this child to see that he needs from 9 to 11 hours of sleep and that, in order to get this amount his approximate bedtim will be apparent to him; that, moreover, he can't extend his sleeptime unduly late in the morning without infringing on the rights of his parents.

Here are reasonable standards. From birth to 4 months—practically all the time when not fed or bathed; 5 months to 1 year—16 to 18 hours; 1 year to 2 years—14 to 16 hours; 2 years to 4 years—13 to 14 hours; 4 years to 6 years—12 to 13 hours; 6 years to 8 years—11 to 12 hours; 8 years to 13 years—10 to 11 hours; 14 years to 18 years—9 to 10 hours. Until school attendance interferes, the child should have a regular afternoon nap.

Goes to Sleep

In checking against these standards, parents should consider the time when the child actually goes to sleep, and not the hour when he is told to go to bed. Many are the youngsters from 6 to 12 who are told repeatedly and continuously for an hour or more to go to bed before they actually are in bed.

For the child under 5 or 6 it not only is the time he is tucked into bed that matters but when he quiets down and goes to sleep.

Also that tot can easily learn to sleep up to a reasonable, regular hour in the morning if he is not allowed to get up till the clock bell rings or some other signal is given, provided there is no deviation from the time of the signal from day to day and month to month. But unless the parents are very consistent and decisive, they can't make it work, when there will be prolonged crying, running about or even sex exploring. But the youngster from 2 to 5 who learns there is finality about the designated rising time, soon learns to go back to sleep and to sleep on soundly long enough. All these problems I discuss at length in my bulletin, "Sleep Problems; Their Prevention and Correction," which may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

'RECEDING HAIR LINE'

Sultan Kept 2000 Wives

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 13.—If you're a husband I know you'll wonder along with me how any man could ever afford 2,000 wives. That's a lot of wives even counting them by tens.

But here in Istanbul, with permission of the government, you can visit the Seraglio where many a Sultan kept that many better halves during all his reign.

How would a man ever get enough money to support 2,000 wives? Think of what it would cost for nylons alone, not to mention shoes, jewelry, food, and all the other things that a wife has to have to be happy and content.

Most Lavish Quarters

The Sultan's quarters are far and away the most lavish in the harem (pronounced harim in Turkey, hareem in Egypt, and harem in the United States). The buildings, and they cover many an acre, are just as they were when they were occupied by the Sultans. No changes have been made, and with a little imagination one can picture what it was like when it was alive with people.

Most of the Sultans' gals lived in simple, small, dormitory-like rooms. Only the Queen Mother and the Sultan's favorite sweetie had lavish suites. These two were always battling for power and even the Sultan wasn't safe from their intrigues.

His bath is one of the most elaborate rooms in the Seraglio, but when he climbed in the tub, stripped and unarmed, he was protected by metal grillwork that prevented some member of his court from giving him the works with a pistol, dirk, or spear.

The Sultan didn't give his wives a chance to get outside the grounds. Magnificent gardens were provided for their strolls, but when nightfall came they retired to rooms whose only windows opened on a sheer drop of hundreds of feet. A gal would have had to be a parachutist to make her escape.

Four Most Beautiful

The four cities I would rate as having the most beautiful, natural settings are San Francisco, Rio, Hong Kong and Istanbul. I would hate to have to decide which is the loveliest. Certainly Isanbul can hold its head up in such company. The view from the city commands a sweeping panorama of the Bosphorus, leading to the Black Sea; the Sea of Marmara running to the Dardanelles and the Aegean, and the Golden Horn, the superb anchorage near the meeting of the Bosphorus and the Marmara.

The waters are cluttered with crafts of all types, ranging from men-of-war to tiny sailboats, riding like shells on the cold blue waters. Scores of snow-white ferries ply up and down, and the Bosphorus and the Marmara are crisscrossed with the white wakes churned up by them and scores of merchant vessels from all the ports of the world.

At night, with the harbor twinkling with thousands of lights, and the minarets of a thousand mosques lighted because of Ramadan, Istanbul is a city right out of a story book. It's lovely at twilight, too, when the setting sun causes the gold of the mosque domes to blaze as though on fire.

Food Is Magical Blending

Food in Istanbul is a magic blending of the Western and Eastern worlds (only a short ferry ride separates Europe from Asia) with the Eastern world predominating. You'll have to travel a long way to find a more fascinating restaurant than the one run by a Mr. Pandeli, a venerable Greek who does most of the cooking, and serving, and who likes nothing better than to argue with his customers.

A small place, Pandeli's is just around the corner from the storied spice market—the oldest and biggest spice market in the world. Aromas of every known spice scent the narrow streets. Pandeli's, little more than a hole in the wall, serves the most exotic food in Turkey. There is nothing you can't get, and cooked in a way that is miles out of this world. If you think that the French have a monopoly on cooking fish, then try Levrek haslamasi at Pandeli's. Levrek is the best of the Turkish fish and Pandeli brews up a tomato and butter sauce that the best in Paris would have a hard time equalling.

A meal at Pandeli's requires a good two hours and an appetite like a starved whale. A few more meals there and, like Spring, I'll be busting out all over.

WEDDING PROBLEMS

What ever does the bachelor do
With wedding invitations?
How choose the one, when there are two,
Same hour, but different stations?
Who tells him all about the groom
Or who's to be the bride,
And in the gay reception room
Keeps him with names supplied?

How does the bachelor know just what
To buy for this or that one?
Shall it be crystalware or not,
Or silver piece—a flat one?
With neither wife nor daughters wise
To follow Emily Post,
How does he know the gift he buys
Is what is wanted most?

Does he go shopping for himself,
The various stores exploring,
For things to line the pantry shelf
Or pots for coffee pouring?
My daughters do the work for me
When there are gifts to send.
Since lonely must the bachelor be,
On whom does he depend?

Folks Of Fame

Gioachino Antonio Rossini was an Italian operatic composer, born at Pesaro Feb. 29, 1792. As a boy he learned singing and pianoforte, and at 13 appeared at the theater in Camilla in a singing role—his sole appearance. He studied at the Conservatorio of Bologna. His first opera was La Cambiale di Matrimonio, produced at Venice when he was 18. His first great success was with the opera, Tancredi. Between 1815 and 1823 he produced 20 operas. His best known operas on this side of the ocean today are Moses in Egypt, William Tell, Barber of Seville and Semiramide. In 1855 he settled in Paris, France, and died at Passy on Nov. 13, 1868.

This musician, Eddie Duchin, was born in Cambridge, Mass., April 1, 1909. He intended to become a pharmacist—his father's profession. After graduation from high school he matriculated at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, acting as pianist with local bands. In his senior year he dissovered that his Saturday engagements with an orchestra paid him in one night as much as the drug-store did in a week, so he reverted entirely to music. In 1931 his own orchestra made its first appearance. After almost four years in the United States navy in World War II, he returned to win new popularity as a pianist, receiving a top radio spot. He has been ill lately.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

History teaches . . . the best read history book, the Bible, tells a story . . . about Solomon and Rehoboam. Solomon was the original tax-and-spend leader . . . he came to the presidency of his country cultured, schooled and wealthy and he felt he had a right to do as he pleased with the historic forces of his land. Under his program of tax and spend the appearances of prosperity were present but the heart of prosperity was missing. The burdens of the people increased and they were asked to accept them as blessings.

* * *

The story goes on. . . . In due time Solomon died, and his son Rehoboam came to power . . . he spurned the advice of the elders of Israel and listened to the young men who knew all the answers to all the social questions of that day. This successor to Solomon increased the taxes and continued the program of wasteful spending . . . the result was death of the nation.

* * *

Yes, America's Solomon is dead and Rehoboam is in the White House and has turned his back on the elders of America and has listened to the young men who know all the answers, and who are thoroughly sold on the program of tax and spend.

* * *

Socialism is rotting away the structure of our nation . . . we can easily see what it has done to England. . . . Those who foster Socialism never mention the word but instead they preach pensions, compensations, health insurance and welfare on a national scale . . . they assure the common people that their rights will be protected and that whatever is done will be for the well being of "the other fellow" . . . they work through schools, churches and clubs and never miss a chance to implant the seeds of dissatisfaction with the old system and a love for the new.

* * *

In England Prime Minister Atlee, after making an erroneous claim for his socialization program, now admits that it has helped only the lower third of the nation. . . . Think of that, wrecking the nation to help the lower third who today lives below the poverty line and the upper two thirds live close to it. . . . Today the Englishman is learning that the Socialist state is inefficient and expensive. . . . It's not too late to save the United States.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Transportation Deficits Shown

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Across the vast watery distance of the Pacific a transport is carrying United States Marines to reinforce hard-pressed American units in South Korea. At the very least those Marines will be three weeks on the water from San Diego.

If that contingent of Marines had been moved by air, they would have been in Japan in three days. But they could not be moved by air because there was not a sufficient airlift in being. This emphatically underscores one of the most tragic deficiencies of an emergency that finds so much wanting.

Economy is argued in favor of the slower method of transportation. But when all the costs are added, including the bill for a naval escort to protect the transport from random and unidentified submarines, this argument falls flat. And quite apart from actual cost accounting is the over-all necessity to get there, in that familiar phrase, "fustest with the mostest." The longer the Korean war goes on, the more costly it is and the more likely it is to spread.

Need Is Much Greater

The Defense department is taking some chartered space on the airlines regularly flying to Japan to carry men and materials. But this is nothing in comparison to the need.

Some months ago Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, head of the Military Air Transport Service, authorized a spot check of foreign and domestic airlines to determine how much transport suitable for military purposes would immediately be available in an emergency. The answer that Kuter's experts came up with was approximately 10 per cent.

This estimate was labeled top secret and put under lock and key. One reason may have been that it would furnish such obvious ammunition for those arguing the urgent necessity to create an air merchant marine. Cargo aircraft built with government subsidies and operating on domestic and foreign routes could be converted almost overnight to military transport.

Proposal Was Opposed

But this proposal was vigorously opposed by most of the air transport industry. Spokesmen for the industry argued that there was no need for more cargo planes. Through the present system of mail pay, which is opposed by the Hoover Committee on Government Reorganization, the industry gets a generous subsidy—estimated conservatively at $50,000,000 a year. This is presumably, in part, to benefit national defense, although, as the Kuter study showed, the benefit is pretty small.

For nearly two years bills to create an air merchant marine have been kicking around Senator Edwin Johnson's committee on interstate and foreign commerce. But Johnson, who is a master of delaying tactics when powerful friends are involved, never got around to moving any of these air merchant marine bills onto the floor. The nearest to it is a bill providing $12,500,000 for experimentation, most of which would go for development of jet passenger planes.

Transportation Deficit

Chairman Hubert E. Howard of the munitions board testified last January before Johnson's committee that the No. 1 transportation deficit was in transport aircraft. Asked if he had any recommendations on how to meet the deficit, Howard replied in the negative.

Merely on the question of a study of how to get more air carriers, the Civil Aeronautics board and the Pentagon passed the buck back and forth for months. Both disclaimed responsibility. A compromise was timidly put forward under which the prototype of a low-cost cargo plane would be constructed and put in mothballs. To take such a prototype out of mothballs would require several weeks or months and then operational flying would be bound to show up "bugs" to be corrected.

Need Large Transport Planes

Two months ago Langdon P. Marvin Jr., chairman during the war of an interdepartmental air cargo priorities committee, testified that 1,200 large-type transport planes would be necessary to make up the current deficit. He pointed to repeated reports of a Russian submarine fleet five times as large as that of the Nazis in 1940.

In some respects the Berlin airlift was almost too successful. It gave people a feeling that we had what it took to do the job.

But the Berlin lift was only 250 miles long. At the peak of operation 5,000 tons a day were being transported. This war is 6,000 miles away on a narrow and difficult peninsula of the Asiatic mainland. The men who are fighting and dying in that war might be interested in knowing why there is no suitable airlift in being that could bring at least emergency help in a hurry.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"OF COURSE YOU CAN CARRY A TUNE . . ."

It is the headline of an advertisement.

It stopped me.

I love music—particularly the kind that is so melodious that you can carry the tune in your head and hum it or sing it.

Unfortunately I can't sing.

When I do it sounds like a frog calling to his mate.

So naturally that headline was intriguing.

Perhaps here was something that could change my voice from a croak into something Pinza-esque.

Perhaps, I too, could become a singer.

I read on . . . "It's the easiest thing in the world to take along music and entertainment wherever you go with a modern portable radio."

So that was it. Just a clever advertising phrase. Just an eye-catching pun.

But there was more to it than that.

It was a sign of the times.

There was a time when people made their own music.

Every kid had to take music lessons.

A piano was an integral part of almost every home.

Few of us older people will ever forget the agonies of our music lessons—the scales, the etudes, the weary hours of practicing, the awful discords of the piano, or the horrible squeaks and squawks produced by the amateur Menuhin on his five-dollar Stradivarius.

But neither will we forget the pleasures we got later on out of creating our own music, of giving expression to the simple harmonies that were in our youthful souls.

Most of that is gone now.

Comparatively few homes have pianos any more. Music store people tell me that the sale of violins has gone way down.

Home music has become mechanical. Just like so many other things, it is now being done with levers and push buttons.

Not that all these time-saving devices aren't fine.

We use practically all of them in our home and you do in yours.

But the trouble is that, as our physical life becomes mechanized, there is great danger that our spiritual life will also go the same way.

I wouldn't be a bit surprised if one of these days we may expect to take a fast plane to the gates of Heaven.

By that time Heaven will have become a realm of skyscrapers and, as we enter the pearly gates, we will expect to be assigned to our quarters on one of the very upper floors and to be taken there by angel-bellhops on fast elevators.

One of these days I am goin to work on a new invention.

I am going to try to create human beings with wheels instead of legs, tubes instead of brains and batteries instead of souls.

But I am going to let them keep their hands.

How else could they grab everything in sight?

Low Intelligence Disqualifies 51 Per Cent Of Recruits

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—The high intelligence required of today's Army recruits has disqualified 51 percent of the young men from the New York area who have attempted to enlist since the outbreak of the war in Korea.

Army and Air Force officials said only 49 percent of the 591 men given mental examinations were able to score a passing mark of 90.

A spokesman for the Army said the test is "difficult" but predicted it will be made easier if the fighting is prolonged.

During World War Two intelligence marks of 50 to 70 were passed.

They Say

WASHINGTON — Sen. Brewster (R) Me.—"What are we spending billions on atomic bombs for—for conversation? For scientific research? The use of atomic bombs in Korea should be put up to Gen. MacArthur."

HAMILTON, N. Y.—Alfred M. Landon—"I applaud the raw courage of the President in making promptly his momentous decision (on Korea)."

A FIGHTER BASE IN KOREA —Fighter pilot William J. Hook of Detroit—"I got a couple of Red tanks all staked out in the hills back there and I am sure gonna get them this time."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich.—"I realize and I know the Senate realizes the great value of those who go out and bring us the news of the war. These men go on the battlefield not with a gun or a sword but with pencils in their hands to inform the country and the world of what is going on."

A second brood of lace bugs is apt to put in an appearance on rhododendrons and mountain laurels this month. A pyrethrum or rotenone spray will control them.

MUGGS AND SKEETER — By WALLY BISHOP

Blind Association Turns Out Many Novel Projects

Rehabilitating and giving work to the blind is both a privilege and an accomplishment to the local Pennsylvania Association for the blind. At present they are employing six men who are either partially or totally blind in their shop located on South Beaver street.

Frank D. Raffaele, director of the association, tells us that these six men busy themselves in the making of many novel projects. For instance, old rubber tires are stripped down and used in the making of rubber door mats; owners of antique chairs are pleased by the job they are doing on reseating the chairs. The men use bamboo strips to weave the bottom into what might have been an item for the junk man.

On the other hand, taking care of the blind who cannot come to the shop to work is another problem. This has been remedied for they are given leather goods such as, belts, suspenders, and wallets to construct.

The problem of selling these goods is taken care of in that there are salesmen who have the name and telephone number of every person in the county written in Braille. In this way they are attempting to distribute their goods by telephone.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, July 13.—(INS)—Viennese-born William Trenk red when someone once said that Los Angeles reminded him of "a carnival packing up and getting ready to leave on the morning train."

Trenk is generally conceded the southern California city's number one booster, even though he has only been a resident since 1946.

The former European stage producer and Hollywood character actor declares that Los Angeles ultimately will set the living habits for the entire world.

Trenk is putting all his feeling for Los Angeles—and a considerable chunk of his own money—into a play that will extoll the virtues of the southern California metropolis. The play is entitled "My L.A."

There are 1,500 other Los Angeles boosters who are putting up money in the venture, but it is Trenk who is the sparkplug behind the big show.

Catches Imagination

The enthusiasm of Trenk has caught the imagination of the most respected and gifted artists inthe theater. Trudi Schoop, famed creator of original dance patterns, has signed to do the choreography for "My L.A."; Harry Horner, production designer for "The Heiress" and "Winged Victory," has designed the settings; Sammy Fain, composer of "I can Dream Can't I?" and "Dear Hearts and Gentle People," wrote the music and Paul Frances Webster who did the lyrics for the Ziegfield Follies and has twice been nominated for an academy award, put words to Fain's music.

Official Recognition

Los Angeles' Junior Chamber of Commerce recently extended official recognition, to the tune of several thousands of dollars.

Trenk calculates, and the Chamber of Commerce hopes he is right, that "My L.A." may serve to right a grievous wrong. He hopes it will end out-of-towners usage of "Hollywood" when they mean "Los Angeles." "The way it is now," he complains, "Los Angeles does all the work and Hollywood gets all the publicity."

Rural Mail Carriers Will Convene Sunday

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 13.—(INS)—Pennsylvania Association of Rural Letter Carriers will open its annual convention Sunday in Johnstown.

Officers will be elected next Wednesday.

Principal speaker Monday will be William Manning of Ponce De Leon, Fla., president of the national association. Elmer J. Hughes of Ebensburg is convention chairman.

Chalres E. Magee of Union City, state president, and Mrs. Willis G. Potter, Coudersport, president of the ladies' auxiliary, also are scheduled to speak Monday.

Other speakers during the four-day meeting will include Floyd E. Ray, Shelocta, state exective committee; Mrs. Mary Bair, Ruffs Dale, auxiliary state executive committee; Mrs. Charles A. Kelly of Butler, C. D. Uttley, Washington, D. C., representative of post office department; Ben Coll, managing editor of the Johnstown Tribune, and Joseph F. Milton of Washington, Pa., state chaplain.

Airplane passenger service in the United States was inaugurated May, 1919.

Personal
To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, overexertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Importance Of Farming Told

Kiwanis Members Are Addressed By Hood

Speaking before members of the New Castle Kiwanis club in connection with their weekly luncheon Wednesday noon, Dr. Kenneth Hood, extension agricultural economist of Penn State college, discussed the national farm program and its ralation to the average citizen.

Dr. Hood pointed out the importance of farming, which employs more persons than all other branches of industry, and of how dependent everyone is upon its success.

Raises Surplus of Labor

In spite of the fact that it is one of the biggest industries of the nation and employs more people than any other branch of endeavor, it gives off a surplus of labor every year in the young people who are raised on the farm and must gradually flow to the cities to retain employment.

Farming, he pointed out, supplies around 65 per cent of its raw materials to industry, and of the necessity that a proper balance be maintained in order to guarantee security for the farmer.

Parity, he stated, is an expression used quite frequently in referring to economy on the farm, and means the balance which is maintained between the cost of doing business and the income the farmer receives. When prices go down and costs of farming go up, the balance is uneven and is below parity.

The national government, he states, seeks to maintain a floor on the basic commodities raised on the farm, namely, cotton, tobacco, rice, peanuts, corn and wheat.

The program maintained by the government in connection with the national farm program, Dr. Hood stated, guarantees there will be enough farm products to go around, and also assures the farmer that he will receive a fair price for these products.

State Inspection Of School Buses To Begin August First

HARRISBURG, July 13—(INS)—The way was paved today for enforcement of Safety Rules in connection with Pennsylvania's school bus law passed by the Legislature in 1949.

State Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner announced that inspection of school buses will begin August 1 at examining points throughout the commonwealth.

Buses that cannot comply will not be permitted to carry school children, Messner reported, and operators who use them will be subject to arrest.

Messner added that a large number of school bus operators have been examined by Pennsylvania State Police. The 1949 law provides for a special examination and a medical test.

Bob Pander Given Honor By Friends

At the home of Bob Pander, 921 Woodlawn avenue, a group of B.P.F.C. members gathered for a party on Tuesday evening.

After a period of reminiscing, a delicious luncheon was served by Bob's sister, Mrs. Nora Samiac, and Mrs. Martha Walters.

Dancing and games were the pastime, and the honored guest received many lovely gifts.

Tomatoes, sweet corn and cabbage should not be cultivated deeply after the plants have begun to grow well. Merely scraping the soil with a scuffle hoe is all that is necessary to keep the weeds down.

CLEAN CLOTHES MAKE FOR FRESH APPEARANCE

An immaculate fresh appearance during warm summer days is a must for all. Good soap and water routine helps to maintain appearance. Make laundering underwear and hose a nightly habit. Use lukewarm suds, squeeze gently, do not rub or twist, then rinse several times in lukewarm water. Roll in a towel for a few minutes to remove excess moisture and garments will dry quicker and look better.

Every two or three days you will need to launder slips and other lingerie. Wash in mild suds, rinse thoroughly, and roll in a towel until ready to iron. Iron on wrong side with grain of material. Never put the iron on elastic parts. Nylon lingerie needs little or no pressing.

For cleanliness and to prolong their life, wash foundation garments frequently. Close the zipper, turn garment wrong side out, and wash in rich lukewarm suds. Always use a mild soap. Avoid using water that is too warm, for this will cause the elastic to become brittle and lose its stretching power.

Use a soft brush on the soiled parts of the garment instead of rubbing. Rinse garment in lukewarm water, squeeze gently, then roll in towel to remove excess moisture. Smooth into shape and hang carefully so air can circulate through garment.

Garment shields used to protect outer clothes from perspiration, should be laundered frequently. Wash in lukewarm suds and rinse well.

Grass clippings should be raked unless they are very short. Other wise they will cause the grass under them to turn brown.

ICE CREAM RECORD

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania ice cream manufacturers maintained their top production rank in the United States during the month of May when they turned out 6,620,000 gallons, the State Department of Agriculture announced from Federal-State surveys.

Production for May was 42 per cent higher than April, two per cent above May, 1949, and 14 per cent above the May, 1944-48 average.

Many Dangers Face World Says Martin

HARRISBURG, July 13—(INS)—Veterans of Foreign Wars attending their 31st Annual Encampment at Harrisburg were told Wednesday by U. S. Sen. Edward Martin that the nation faces the dangers of Communism, disunity and extravagance.

"The moral fibre of the American people is being weakened by extravagance, indifference to the public welfare and too little appreciation of the obligation of citizenship," Martin declared.

He said Communism is a grave threat to American security and pointed out that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has testified that subversive activity among Red Traitors in America is now at a greater height than at any time during World War II.

Approximately 540,000 Communists are in America according to Hoover, Martin reported.

"Therefore, I say to you, as veterans and Americans, you must not relax in your fight to drive out Communism," Martin declared.

"It is one of the great dangers we face. It must be destroyed or it will destroy all that you have fought to preserve."

He assailed government extravagance and said "It precludes future expansion that should provide employment for our people."

The disunity preached by Communists, declared the veteran soldier, must be rooted out and America saved for "those who are loyal to its ideals and principles and who are willing to fight to sustain them."

He urged veterans organizations to help "blot out" racketeering, chiseling and law evasion.

Marines Issue Call For Volunteers Now

WASHINGTON, July 13—(INS)—The U. S. Marines issued a formal call for volunteers today.

The announcement said new recruits may sign up for four years, and that Marine veterans up through the rank of sergeant may volunteer for one year.

Medical and dental requirements have been relaxed in order to encourage volunteering by veterans.

New recruiting quotas will be set soon.

Truman's Civil Rights Program Killed For Session

WASHINGTON, July 13—(INS)—The Senate on Wednesday killed president Truman's Civil Rights Program as far as this session of Congress is concerned by again beating back an administration attempt to obtain action on the Fair Employment Practices Bill.

Administration efforts to ban a a southern filibuster against the FEPC Bill were defeated, 55 to 33.

The vote came on the question of imposing "cloture" against Dixie Senators, a move requiring approval of 64 Senators. The southerners had served notice that they would filibuster indefinitely against the bill.

The measure, now doomed for this year at least, would ban discrimination in employment because of race, religion, or color.

Majority Leader Lucas (D) Ill., conceded on the cloture question before the vote was taken, but they maintained that the tally allowed Senators to "stand up and be counted" on the controversial Civil Rights issue.

Pressed Steel Car Plant Is Sold

PITTSBURGH, July 13—(INS)—The Pressed Steel Car company announced today that it is selling its Pittsburgh works to a syndicate which plans to "dispose of the machinery and create a multi-industry settlement on the 100-acre tract."

Trade circles said the price, which includes all business, real estate and equipment, was in excess of two million dollars.

The company said the sale was influenced by insufficient orders, and no foreseeable increase in car buying in large quantities.

Leonard Morey of the Morey Machinery company of New York City, spokesman for the syndicate, said he hoped that many jobs can be created for skilled workers.

Some 2,000 workers were made jobless when the plant closed down last August.

CHILD CARE

HARRISBURG—In 25 counties arrangements have been completed to provide assistance for certain children who at the direction of the court were removed from the homes of their parents who were receiving assistance and placed either in foster homes or in children's homes maintained by the County Institute District.

Church 'Partner' Changed By Cops

PARIS—(INS)—The vicar of a Paris church, baffled by the diminishing collections from his usually charitable congregation, finally abandoned divine help and called in the police.

Collections were particularly low after weddings, it seems, so the police showed up at a ceremony the next day, joined the crowd, assisted with the marriage, and when the Sexton came by with the collection box, generously contributed 3,000 marked francs in small bills.

That evening one of the inspectors returned. He wanted to arrange a service for a late friend. For 150 francs, the Sexton thought it would be possible. The inspector handed over a thousand franc note, and the Sexton, pulling out his personal wallet, gave him change in the marked bills.

Faced with the evidence, the bewildered Sexton explained that he sometimes confused the money given to God with his own. He defended himself further by insisting that according to his secret account his embezzlement amounted to only 24,000 francs.

SOUTH PARIS, Me. — There was a little confusion when one name was called at the high school graduation exercises. One graduate was Francis Stearns. Another was Francis Stearns. They are not related.

Man Dies After He Is Trapped By Fire In His Apartment

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 13 — (INS)—An elderly caretaker was injured fatally last night in a fire that damaged a four-story restaurant building in North Philadelphia.

The victim, tentatively identified as George Dudnis, about 68, was pronounced dead at St. Joseph's hospital. Firemen said he apparently was trapped by smoke and flames in his apartment on the top floor.

Leon Gold, partner in the restaurant business, estimated the damage at more than $75,000. Most extensive damage was on the top floor. Smoke and water damaged the other floors and the restaurant itself, on the first floor.

RABIES TESTS

HARRISBURGH — When a dog suspected of having rabies is killed it should not be shot through the brain because the only sure test for proving the existence of rabies is through laboratory examination of that organ. The complete head should be packed by a veterinarian with a limited quantity of dry ice and sent by him to the Bureau of Animal Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg. Frozen brains result in delay in examination. Plenty of absorbent material should be used in packing, department official say.

Hungary Launches New Penal Code

BUDAPEST — (INS) — The new Hungarian penal code, closely patterned after the Soviet system, contains a novel provision for punishing people without putting them in jail.

The new method is applied in cases where the end of punishment is "correction and education."

Under the provision, a man can be sentenced to perform a "certain labor from one month to two years" without being imprisoned.

The man can serve his sentence without ever leaving home, provided he does the designated work regularly each day.

A man sentenced to lay bricks for a year will be paid for it, at appreciably reduced wages.

The Hungarian penal system stipulates that persons under 12 years of age, and the insane are exempt from criminal prosecution. Crimes committed in self-defense, and in the defense of community property also are not punishable.

The death penalty is prescribed under the code for murder and treason.

Dogless Dog Show For Jap Viewers

TOKYO—(INS)—Tokyo's annual dog show will be dogless this year.

Instead, the event, renamed "animal show" will see a display of all four-footed pets—except dogs.

Its sponsors, the SPCA and the PDSA, announced that "rabbits, cats, kittens and goats" may be entered in competition.

Canines were barred when Japanese authorities reported 16 persons had died of rabies out of 595 bitten by dogs suffering from hydroprobia in Tokyo and six adjoining provinces since the beginning of the year.

Occupation health officials immediately prohibited "any mass congregations of dogs for the time being."

One rabid dog bit 29 persons in a wild 11-hour rampage near Tokyo. It was finally shot to death by members of a 1,000-man posse mobilized to destroy it.

Commemorate Perry Landing In Japan

SHIMODA, Japan — (INS) — A monument will be unveiled in Shimoda this summer marking the site of the first American installation in Japan—a country now abounding with U. S. military, naval and air force establisrments.

The unveiling ceremony will be part of the annual "Black Ship" festival held to commemorate the first visit to Shimoda in 1854 of a U. S. naval squadron under the command of Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry.

The name of the celebration is derived from the forbidding color of the vessels.

The memorial will feature a bronze bust of Perry, flanked by two tablets inscribed in English and Japanese.

Sobieraj Gets Eight Months

Killed Pedestrian In Highway Crash

Chester Sobieraj, convicted in June term upon a charge of failure to stop, was given eight months to the Allegheny county workhouse on Wednesday morning.

Sobieraj killed Joseph McCormick as he was walking along highway 422 in Slippery Rock township. He was charged with involuntary manslaughter and driving while intoxicated in addition to failure to stop. The jury acquitted him on the first two charges. He was fined $100 and costs in addition to the workhouse sentence.

Adam Bruce was fined $100 or three months to the county jail for failure to stop.

Albert Quimby, second offense, driving while intoxicated, was fined $100 and given three months to the county jail.

Raymond Gennaro, on a morals charge, was fined $100 and costs or four months to the county jail. He was also assessed the lying-in charges.

Earl Reynolds, failure to stop, was fined $100 and costs and five months to the county jail.

Clare Snyder had pleaded nolle contendere to driving while intoxicated but upon appearing for sentence asked leave to withdraw his plea and enter a plea of not guilty. His petition was granted but Judge Braham warned him that if convicted he would be dealt with differently than if he had pleaded.

Albert E. Nader, establishing a gambling place, was fined $150 and costs and placed upon probation for two years.

TITLE HEARING

Before Judge John G. Lamoree on Wednesday, testimony was taken in the action to clear the title to the Clendenin property on East Washington and Mercer streets.

The city claims a one-third interest in the property under the terms of the will of the late Wells B. Clendenin. Mrs. Helen Ward Stevens, owner of two-thirds of the property, who holds a life interest in the other third, claims the bequest of Mr. Clendenin was abrogated when the site of the memorial library and art gallery he specified should be built, was sold.

The city relies upon the doctrine of Cy Pres which means to carry out the terms as nearly as possible, and claims the one-third interest.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Guiding the Adolescent

Most youngsters need help in overcoming the many problems that present themselves in every day living. They are sensitive and need careful handling. They like to think things through for themselves but wtih the assistance of their parents or other adults.

For instance, 14-year-old Kenneth is going to the freshman dance. He can't make up his mind which girl he should take. Thinking out loud helps. "Carlotta is nice but not very popular. If I don't ask her she may not have a chance to go. Jeannie's swell, and one of the other kids said she sort of likes me. Then there's Ruth—she invited me to her party last week—maybe I ought to ask her." Ken wants to work it out on his own, yet he needs help—someone who'll listen, someone who understants his indecision, and who can quietly offer a suggestion.

To stand by and see youngsters make mistakes is not easy. But we as parents, should remember that children in their teens will resist any emphatic "ought" or "must". We should encourage them to think things through to the best of their own ability, and to listen to ideas and suggestions offered from older and more experienced people.

A great deal of the mildew found on perennial phlox may be prevented if the roots of the plants are kept moist. Frequent dustings with sulphur also are beneficial.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

Head of water moccasin showing the pit possessed by the so-called pit vipers. Projecting from the mouth is the tongue used for feeling and hearing. This snake does not occur in Pennsylvania.

The sizable rattler was pinned down with a forked stick and then decapitated. When I grasped the vibrating tail the headless trunk lashed back and savagely struck my hand, leaving a bloody blotch on the member.

If the beheaded body reacted as it did I wondered how the head would respond. This time I was prepared. One unpleasant surprise was enough. As it lay in the dust of the roadbed I approached and gingerly poked it with a long stick. At the merest touch the jaws flashed open and the erect fangs presented themselves. The sheaths covering the fangs were a dead white.

This little experiment was enacted near a rattlesnake den in Forest county just a few miles from Vowinckel; the reptile we had just despatched and another that got away having been encountered on the dirt road into camp.

The snake discussion precipitated by that chance meeting with the two serpents continued far into the night and disclosed many fanciful notions entertained even by individuals who should have been better informed.

When the subject of the milk snake was aired, Jack Wright, a sterling outdoorsman, pointedly remarked, "Now don't tell me that the milk snake doesn't suck milk from cows."

Phil Brown looked up in mild surprise. "Perhaps you've seen 'em do it, Jack?"

"No, I can't say that I've ever caught them in the act, but on two occasions I clubbed snakes as they emerged from the cow stalls and in both cases milk squirted from breaks in the bodies."

No amount of reasoning would convince Jack that the milk snake cannot milk a cow. In the first place it was pointed out that a snake of that size could not exert the suction necessary for such an undertaking. Then, what about the cow? How long would one stand while the needle sharp teeth of the reptile engaged a sensitive nipple?

On my initial trout fishing sally in western Pennsylvania, my two companions, both native keystoners, had a disconcerting way of casually pointing out the "water moccasins" which they saw. First, one would sing out, "There's a moccasin over on that flat rock." Sooner later the other would indicate another and frequently several, slithering off through the undergrowth or plopping into the water. I must confess that I had no stomach for running head-on into one of the ugly critters.

In the meanwhile I gingerly stepped along until I encountered and contemptuously kicked a sizable water snake from off a log where it was basking in the young spring sun.

My nearest companion who witnessed the performance admonished me in no uncertain terms. "Hey!" he called out, "those fellows are bad medicine."

I looked up in surprise as it suddenly dawned on me that here was one of the "moccasins" that they had been seeing. "Say, is that one of the alleged moccasins that you chaps have been seeing?" Since they were a couple of natives I had until that moment an abiding faith in thier woodlore.

"Alleged," he echoed. "They're the real McCoy."

Well, it took me most of the lunch hour convincing them that the true water moccasin rarely comes farther north than the James river in eastern Virginia. Indeed, a specimen of water snake had to be secured and the absence of fangs had to be shown. The fine sharp teeth making up the dental equipment of the various water snakes are admirably adapted for catching their prey. Besides being pugnacious and ugly to an extreme water snakes are conceded to be fish enemies No. 1. Yes, the water snake is a formidable reptile, but it should not be confused with the deadly cottonmouth moccasin of the southern swamps.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—It's the willowy woman who will fit most fetchingly into next fall's sleeker fashions.

Five leading New York designers unveiled their 1950 autumn clothes today, showing skirts with hiplines as snug-fitting as gloves; shoulders slightly padded, to balance hiplines, and waistlines slightly lower than last year's.

More than 130 fashion editors from U. S. and Canadian newspapers circulated about the salons of designers Ben Reig, Paul Parnes, Hansen Bang, Nettie Rosenstein and Pauline Trigere.

All the collections pointed up the importance of velvet trimmings on silk and wool clothes, and Nettie Rosenstein led the field of designers in presenting more colors than usual for winter wear—top shades being brick red, raspberry and maroon for daytime, and delphinium blues, sea greens and pinks for evening.

It is important to keep seed from forming on phlox, sweet william, poppies, coreopsis and foxgloves unless you desire to save seed or let the plants propagate themselves.

Keep gladiolus plants well watered when they are coming into bud, particularly the primulinus varieties. This will help to prevent them from wilting on hot days.

In The Open

The gorgeous butterfly-weed has opened its bright orange blossoms in abandoned old fields across the countryside. Its vivid splashes of color signal the beinning of the summer flower show, and the arrival of countless butterflies to float about in high carnival beneath the friendly July sun. Many other less colorful meadow bloomers already spread their tables for entertainment of the myriad insect visitors. Prominent among these were the common milkweed and Indian hemp and stray plants of big red clover. But the festivities are not in full swing until the smouldering butterfly-weed suddenly flames into brilliant beauty.

Wins All Polls

Membership in the milkweed family, which includes some of our most common pasture residents, does not deter this striking individual from winning all polls as the most ornamental wild flower of the mid-summer scene. Old-time herbalists called it "pleurisy root," and used it in treatment of that condition. The Indians cooked the young green pods into their meat stews. But the butterflies know that this flaming orange blossom is their own special property.

There were spice bush swallowtails and great spangled fritillaries sailing about. There were monarchs and cabbage butterflies. Here and there a wood nymph skulked low through the meadow growth There were sulphers and the little blue and a host of other butterflies as yet unknown to me. A horde of bees and flies and other "bugs" was on hand to help pilfer the proffered sweets. They probably picked up a full meal, but the butterflies have all the fun.

I had chanced the vagrant bullets of too-eager groundhog hunters to prowl through that delightful grown-up meadow. Somewhere ahead a grasshopper sparrow was singing his dry, buzzing insect-like trill. I combed the area with the glasses but never did see the bird until he flushed from the weeds as I advanced and dropped back into the grass in a far corner of the field.

Fat Striped Potato Beetle

Feasting on the leaves of horse nettle, which is a member of the potato family, was one lonesome fat striped potato beetle He surely looked lost in the middle of that wide field. I saw the iridescent dogbane beetles which always hang about the spreading dogbane and watched a variety of dragon flies hunting above a marshy area in the field.

There were just enough raspberries ripe to tantalize the birds and errant prowlers, like myself. A few more days will bring the clusters to perfection. In a damp ish woodland edging I came across a station of the tall summer anemone, commonly known as thimble-weed from its oblong thimble-like fruit head. These plants were at least three feet tall, with solitary flowers over an inch across.

After a wide circle through the old fields I headed for the deep woodland which claims the neighboring hills A wide stream guards this timerbland, and forced me to several tentative approaches before I found a flat crossing, shallow enough for my knee boots.

Waist-High Jewel Weed

In the cool darkness of the forest understory I came into an entirely different plant growth. Here were whole acres overrun by waist-high jewel weed. Here were tremendous Jacks-in-the-pulpit, perhaps four feet tall, with fruits set in the forks of the two huge leaves. Maidenhair fern peeped out shyly through this confusing greenery.

My walking stick served as a machete to cut a swath through the fragile jewel weed as I forged ahead. This was a necessary precaution to save bruised shins on the many tangled wind falls hidden completely by the lush growth There were faint but certain trails along the hillside. They were probably engineered in the first place by groundhogs and later utilized by all the four-footed folk traveling that way.

Some Odd Ferns

I kept an eye out for odd ferns, intent on brushing up on my knowledge of these interesting citizens. The commonest denizen turned out to be the comparatively uncommon narrowleaf spleenwort. I must have examined fifty fronds, looking for a fruiting specimen, but found nary a single spore. The little ebony spleenwort was also plentiful on the hillside.

The leather woodfern, easily known by the marginal spores, and the common woodfern were in evidence on the hillside above the creek, together with the always-present Christmas fern. In the marshy openings by the creekside the sensitive fern was established in small colonies, and one patch of the rather rare walking fern covered a portion of a tremendous outcrop boulder.

Traffic Deaths In State Total 546 In Five-Month Period

HARRISBURG, July 13—(INS)—Pennsylvania's traffic fatalities during the first five months of 1950 registered a decline of 12 below a similar period in 1949.

Highway fatalities from January to May, 1950, totaled 546 in the state, the State Bureau of Highway Safety reported Wednesday. In 1949 they totaled 558.

One hundred traffic fatalities were recorded during May, second lowest total for the month since 1928.

"With registration and gasoline consumption at the highest level ever recorded, miles of travel in Pennsylvania have soared to an all time high," said bureau research and statistics chief J. E. Smiley.

"Considering this increased travel, it is encouraging to this bureau to see our traffic deaths decreasing," he added. "Providing the month of June shows a similar trend, our six month report should show a substantial decrease over the same period for 1949."

Smiley said the saving in pedestrian lives during the five months was "beyond our most optimistic expectations." Sixty-nine fewer pedestrians were killed by vehicles.

FOREST FIRE REPORT

HARRISBURGH — Forest and Waters Secretary M. F. Draemel declared today that 1949 was the second lowest record year for forest fires and acreage burned in the history of the Commonwealth's 40 years of organized forest fire pervention and control. There were 1540 forest fires in 1949 which burned 32,722 of the over 15 million acres of Pennsylvania forest land, costing $84,257 to extinguish and $95,894 in damage. The Commonwealth's record year for the least number of fires and acres consumed was 1948 which had 842 fires and 13,000 acres burned.

Frequent Rain Delays Harvesting Of Crops

HARRISBURG, July 13—(INS) Crop growth was aided last week by frequent rain which hampered harvests in Pennsylvania, the Federal State Weather and Crop reported today.

Storms in a few localities caused considerable lodging of grain fields, the report stated.

June generally offered good growing weather on Pennsylvania farms but all spring-planted crops still are late, according to the service.

LAURELTON PROJECT

HARRISBURG — The General State Authority today called for bids on Wednesday, August 2, for the construction of three new buildings to house patients at the Laurelton State Village in Union County .

U.S. Farm Crop For 1950 Good

Fourth Largest Harvest Expected

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The nation's farmers are making certain that the United States will be well prepared as far as food is concerned in the event of another world war.

The Agriculture department says that farmers are producing another of those tremendous harvests common during the second World War II years.

Total 1950 crop prospects shape up into the fourth largest in history. This comes despits government pleas — before the Korean crisis—to cut back output of many crops.

The government had asked farmers to divert about 30,000,000 acres of major crops into grazing land and other non-immediate cash crops.. It now appears that 13,000,000 acres have been diverted. Another 4,000,000 acres of production will be lost before harvest due to natural causes.

Corn Cut Asked

The department especially asked farmers to cut corn acreage 13 per cent from last year's 87,000,000 acres. But farmers, according to the latest survey, plan to cut it only about four per cent to 83,000,000 acres.

Corn is the basic feed for meat animals—a vital food during wartime and one the government stresses during such emergencies. Corn reserves on farms on July 1 totaled slightly more than a billion bushels.

Whereas the government — through acreage allotments—asked for a 12.6 per cent slash in wheat acreage, indications are that wheat land harvested will be almost 22 per cent under last year.

Although the 1950 indicated production of wheat is 957,000,000 bushels—the first time that yield has dropped below a billion bushels in seven years—it is still a large crop.

Farmers were urged to plant fewer potatoes to end the need for government buying, and eventual dumping. But the July 1 report shows that there will be just about as many potatoes this year as last.

Court Ruling Is Cause For Release Of 200 Parolees

HARRISBURG, July 13.—(INS)—A state supreme court ruling handed down last February has resulted in the release of 200 parole violators from prison.

State Parole Board Chairman Henry C. Hill reported today that the board closed the parole cases of 143 convicts up to the end of May and estimated that more than 50 were closed in June.

An additional 500 parolees—most of them released during the last 10 years and whose whereabouts are unknown— will be dropped from the board's jurisdictions, Hill said.

The high court ruling was handed down February 7 in the case of Hezekiah Tate who was accused of leaving the state twice without permission in violation of a parole board regulation.

The supreme court held that Tate was being held illegally in eastern penitentiary because his original maximum term had expired April 10, 1947.

The court ruled that Tate could not be held after that date regardless of when he had violated parole or for how long.

Justice Charles Alvin Jones, who returned the decision, stipulated that it applied only to violators of parole regulations who committed no new crimes while on parole.

Each person in the United States receives an average 275 pieces of mail each year.

Police identified the men in custody as Thomas W. Owen, 21, Paul C. Cartzel, 20, and Robert J. Kitner, 21, all of New Bloomfield, R.D., and Jay L. Blaine, 27, of Newport.

Newport Justice of the Peace Frank Milligian ordered them held without bail in Newport jail.

Yak Fighter Planes Shoot Down U.S. Fliers

By JOHN RICH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ADVANCE AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, July 13.—(Thursday)—An American observation plane was shot down Wednesday by two Soviet-made Yak fighters which machine-gunned the pilot and his observer, injuring them both.

The injured flyers got back to the American lines to tell the story of their escape.

Lieut. John Stanton of Exeter, Mo., another observation pilot, said it was the second time in two days that Yak fighters had been seen in the vicinity of this advance headquarters.

The day before, he said, two Yaks fired at him while he was directing a strafing attack from his observation plane over the front line.

Stanton who was uninjured said:

"They fired two short bursts at me but they were lousy shots. The first time I knew they were any where near was when I saw tracers going past.

"They pulled up into the sun for another pass but we headed for home.

"I think I flew under one river on the way back."

Sounded Like Rifle Pit

Stanton said he was wearing head phones and the Yak machine guns sounded like he was right in a rifle pit during target practice. He said only one North Korean fighter fired at his plane but both passed about thirty feet away—close enough to see their Red Star emblems.

Stanton added:

"I saw them return rocking their wings and hunting for us."

The Yaks appeared over the frontline at the same time an F-51 Mustang manned by a South Korean pilot crashed and burned during a takeoff.

Lieut. Kenneth Glover of De Smet, S. D., saw the F-51 crash while he was waiting to take off in an observation plane.

He said:

"The F-51 was just off the ground but the left wing did not appear to be lifting."

The crashing fighter plane cut the nose off another observation plane which was on the airstrip. The American pilot of the observation plane threw back the cowling and got out with the aid of two ground crewmen—Corp. Herbert J. Fenner of Tulsa, Okla., and Sgt. Richard August of Titusville, Pa. Later Fenner and August helped salvage machine guns from the blazing wreckage.

Milk Production Hits Record Peak

HARRISBURG, July 13—(INS)—A new annual record for milk production in Pennsylvania was indicated today for 1950 by a total of 3,122,000,000 pounds produced during the first half of 1950.

Last year 2,953,000,000 pounds were produced during a similar period, according to the State Agriculture Department. The 1939-48 yield was 2,613,000,000 pounds.

Milk production hit a record peak for the month of June with 559,000,000 pounds recorded for Pennsylvania farms.

The amount was seven per cent below May even though the average milk production per cow was 22.9 pounds in herds maintained by department correspondents.

The department also reported expectation that the supply of turkeys from Pennsylvania farms will exceed the supply last year.

MACHINE BUYING UP

PHILADELPHIA—Rising costs and tightening competition for the consumer dollar has U. S. industry engaged in the biggest machine tool buying program since 1946. In a move to balance mounting costs with more efficient machinery, manufacturers are flooding the mraket with orders for new equipment at a rate which may reach $300,000,000 for 1950, a figure 20 per cent higher than last year, says William L. Batt, president of SKF Industries, Inc.

Many Activities Featured At YW East Brook Camp

Bad weather is no drawback to a good time at the YWCA Camp East Brook. Monday was the highlight of the second period and regular classes, excepting swimming were held.

During the afternoon, a long period of square and folk dancing was enjoyed. Plans were made for a Tom Thumb wedding and a rehearsal was held before supper.

Afterwards, the girls scurried to collect whatever available for proper clothing for a wedding. Many famous guests were present at the wedding, including Mr. and Mrs. Smart, and Mr. and Mrs. Kettle and other persons.

A congratulatory period was held in the dining room, where the guests kissed the bride and congratulated the bridegroom. Dancing was to recordings by famous bands and delicious refreshments provided by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Connelly and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Crangi made the evening complete.

On Wednesday a backward day caused all kinds of merriment beginning with a bedtime story, and closing with a cheery good morning.

Those taking part in the wedding were: bride, Joan Duddy; bridegroom, Mildred Kennedy; best man, Sally Marquis; maid of honor, Carol Connelly; bridesmaids, Jane Fullwood, Johna Fullwood, Gretchen Rentz, Anita Mathis; ushers, Jo Ellen McWilliams, Sandra Crangi, Beth Kline, Ann Shrefler; parents of bride, mother, Mary Ellen Jacobson, and father, Judy Bauman; parents of bridegroom, mother, Gretchen Figley and father, Shelley Huston; minister, Bettie Galdston; flower girl, Ann Weinschenk; ring bearer, Erma Reynolds; wedding music, Dulcie Arnold on the ukelele.

The bride was lovely in a traditional white satin gown and veil of net edged with fresh daisies. Bridesmaids were dressed in floor length pastel gowns and carried Colonial bouquets.

RUTH IS SYMBOL OF FAMILY LOYALTY

STORY ILLUSTRATES HAPPY HOME RELATIONS

Scripture—Ruth

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In the crowded conditions of today's living, home relations are often strained. Mothers and fathers and their married families with children do not always live happily together in too small quarters.

Mothers-in-law have been themes for jokes since the beginning of time. Every woman who becomes one is supposed to turn into a virago, meddling continually, with the affairs of her sons'—or daughters'—families and making everyone unhappy.

One seldom hears jokes about fathers-in-law, but as a matter of fact, fathers do not always add to the family harmony by being cordial to in-laws.

This being the case, it is very rewarding to read the sweet Old Testament story of Ruth and her mother-in-law, Naomi. Of course there are millions of such relationships between mothers and sons' wives, but they are not often publicized.

The real moral of this story is supposed to be that of tolerance in international marriages. Naomi was a Hebrew woman—Ruth a Moabite, and Boaz was likewise a Hebrew.

At that time the judges in Palestine ruled that no Jew should wed a Gentile. This moral for the tale has largely been forgotten. At any rate, we can learn a lesson of love and harmony as well as in race relations.

"Once upon a time, "when the judges ruled," there was a famine in the Hebrew land. A certain man named Elimelech took his wife, Naomi, and his two sons, and went, therefore, into the land of Moab, which lay east to the Jordan, where there was food.

Both sons eventually married Moabite wives, but Elimelech died, and then both the sons followed him to the grave, leaving Naomi and her daughters-in-law—Orpah and Ruth—widows.

Bereft of her husband and both sons, Naomi decided to go back to her own people. Both daughters-in-law accompanied her part of the way to Judah, and then Naomi prepared to part with them both.

"Go, return each to her mother's house," she said. "The Lord deal kindly with you, as ye have dealt with the dead, and with me. The Lord grant you that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband."

So saying, she kissed them, but both wept and said to her, "surely we will return with thee unto thy people."

No, said Naomi. She was too old to marry again and have sons, and even if she did, the youngsters would take years to grow up and the daughters-in-law could not wait for them.

The young women cried again, but Orpah kissed her mother-in-law and went her way back to her own people, but Ruth clung to her mother-in-law, saying,

"Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following thee, for whither thou goest I will go; where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God; where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me."

A great love for her husband's mother prompted Ruth to so speak—an affection that spoke well for both women. Naomi, seeing that Ruth's mind was firmly made up, yielded and they journeyed on together. When they came to Bethlehem, former neighbors and friends recognized Naomi and welcomed her, but she, telling of her losses, said her name should no more be "Naomi" but "Mara"—which means "bitter".

The remainder of the story will have to be briefly told. Naomi's husband had a wealthy kinsman named Boaz, and Naomi sent Ruth to reap the grain left by the reapers in his fields.

Boaz noticed the girl and asked who she was, and the answer, that she was Naomi's daughter-in-law come from Moab with her, and seeking to provide food for them both, impressed him so favorably that he told her always to reap in his fields and, secretly, told his young men to leave extra grain in her way.

Of course the sequel was that Boaz married Ruth—and "they all lived happily ever after."

Red spiders are apt to damage evergreens at this season, particularly if the weather is dry. Sulphur is a good remedy, but a strong stream of water from a hose used several times a day to wash down the evergreens will often keep the pests under control.

Drive Slow—Children Move Fast!

HOOKEY DROPS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(INS)—District of Columbia school officials attribute the low degree of truancy in Washington schools to the kindly wisdom of Mrs. Alice Sheldon, attendance director for 15 years. Only a fraction of Washington's 66,000 school children were illegally absent last year. And officials say Mrs. Sheldon's tolerant attitude—which is impressed on her assistants—is the main reason there aren't more hookey-players.

Sharon Man Believed Drowned While Fishing In Shenango River

SHARON, July 13.—Earl E. Miller, 47, of Sharon is believed to have drowned while fishing in the Shenango river. He has been missing since Tuesday evening.

Miller's sons, Clyde, 11, and Donald, 15, who accompanied him on the fishing trip near Greenville, went to sleep in the family car after becoming tired of the sport. Upon awaking they were unable to find their father. Searchers found his hat, fishing pole and flashlight on the bank.

Jap Vendors Fast Spiels

TOKYO—(INS)—Have you ever tried pumpkin "that tastes like chicken?"

Or own "parachute socks?"

You could, if you believed what Tokyo's street vendors have to say about their wares of American origin.

One of them, in the hurly-burly Shinjuku amusement district, will tell you with a straight face that pumkin is a "type of fowl peculiar to the great United States of America—a cross between a chicken and a turkey."

Brandishing in one hand an olive-colored two-pound can with the stenciled imprint "U.S.A.", this glib tongued salesman will try to convince you that it contains one of the most prized delicacies an American housewife can place on the family table.

In his spiel, he sedulously steers clear of the word "kabotcha"—the Japanese equivalent of the lowly pumpkin. To mention it, would ruin his business.

This vendor is one of the thousands of his kind who have suddenly sprung up around Tokyo to sell to a gullible Japanese public a wide variety of American army surplus goods. Placed on sale, not only on the streets but in stores as well, are hundreds of items ranging from chewing gum to electric refrigerators—all "Made in U. S. A."

If the peelings of pears, or peaches, are covered with water, sweetened to taste, and boiled until about the consistency of syrup, it will make an excellent substitute for maple syrup, and is not expensive.

Arizona Popular For Movie Sets

PHOENIX—(INS)—Arizona has the welcome mat out for Hollywood motion picture companies and is hoping that a recent increase in location work will expand to an even greater degree.

There has been a state-wide campaign to liberalize the workmen's compensation act which for a time acted as an embargo on virtually all picture companies. Net result of the act was to make picture-making in Arizona more expensive than in Hollywood.

Hollywood, once it got the idea that pictures might be better "box office" if they were shot on location, went wild when the scenic beauty and rugged grandeur of the Grand Canyon state were seen.

Currently, Phoenix is the location for Robert Stillman's production, "Sound if Fury." Unlike most pictures made in Arizona, "Sound of Fury" is a modern day story about a community gripped in the hysteria of a lynching.

Hitherto only westerns and pioneer epics were shot in the Arizona parks, canyons and forests. Pictures made in Arizona included "Commanche Territory," "Fort Apache," "Stagecoach," 'Broken Arrow," 'California," "Copper Canyon," and dozens of others.

SHOP WRECKER

HOLLYWOOD — A Hollywood dress shop operator, hunting something unusual as a mascot, paid $100 to a pet dealer for Peter. Peter turned out to be more destructive than the proverbial bull in a china shop. He went on a rampage, tearing dresses from racks right and left and making the shop a shambles. The operator is looking for someone to take him off her hands. Peter, by the way is a two-year-old donkey.

Americans Eating More Vegetables

NEW YORK — (INS) — Mom's age-old plea to Dad and Junior to eat more fruits and vegetables may soon be a thing of the past.

For statistics compiled by the American Can company show that American eating habits have under-gone a radical change in the quarter-century just ended, removing much of the urgency from Mom's exhortations.

"The average citizen of the United States now eats more than a pound a day of fresh fruits and vegetables and supplements that diet with about 83 pounds of canned fruits, vegetables and their juices," reports L. W. Graaskamp, vice-president of the can company.

In 1925, the per capita consumption of canned fruits, vegetables and juices was only about 39 pounds per year—and less than a pound per day of the fresh items.

This doubled popularity of canned fruits and vegetables is due, he said, to steadily increased economies in the entire process of getting fruits and vegetables from field to retail store shelf.

"The American people are the world's most consistent consumers of fruits and vegetables, in addition to all the other items of their varied diet," Graaskamp said.

About three miles of laundry (16,000 feet) is hung on lines by the average housewife each year.

CHICAGO — The National Restaurant Association estimates that every day 60,000,000 meals are served in the nation's public eating places.

Marines Engrossed In Loading Ship For Shipment To Korea

SAN DIEGO, CAL., July 13—(INS)—First division Marines labored at final loading chores today in preparation for their long sea voyage to join the Army and Air Forces in Korea.

The leathernecks, spurred on by a surprise visit of their commander, Gen. Clifton B. Cates, hoisted aerial bombs, gasoline drums, jeeps, heavy guns and other weapons aboard huge Navy transports docked at San Diego and San Pedro harbors.

Gen. Cates landed at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station yesterday and immediately drove to San Pedro where he witnessed loading operations. The general chatted with Marines and told them:

"I can't give you any more information than you read in the papers, but I can say that you are the best equipped units ever sent out in your country's defense."

County Firemen In Annual Picnic At New Wilmington

Lawrence county firemen and their families gathered at New Wilmington Communtiy Park, Wednesday evening, for the annual picnic, with around 100 in attendance.

Following a delicious picnic supper, served in the dining hall, a business meeting was held.

Plans were outlined for the fire school which will be conducted in the near future. Each department is limited to three men, and these must be enrolled at the August meeting of the Association.

A resolution was passed, in which the county firemen, voted to assist in every way the Civilian Defense program now being set up.

It was announced that there would be a meeting of the county association's fire police at Neshannock township fire hall, next Monday evening, July 17, at 8 o'clock. Instruction will be given by the state police in the duties of the fire police.

The matter of having a fire marshal in Lawrence county was discussed, and will be brought up at the next meeting also.

The arrangements for Wednesday evening were in charge of Glenn McConnell and "Rosy" White, assisted by the members of the New Wilmington department.

The next meeting of the association will be at Union township in August.

HOW AMMO-VESS WORKS
Dental research has shown that tooth decay is always accompanied by certain bacteria. New AMMO-VESS, developed by a practicing dentist, is a combination of ammoniated chemical elements which greatly reduce the damaging effect of this bacteria.

AMMO-VESS, a Dentifrice
Brushing the teeth in the morning and evening is not enough to prevent tooth decay. Tiny, hardly visible food particles, which accumulate during the day, around and between teeth, can start decay. Carry handy AMMO-VESS tablets in your pocket or purse. After each meal, drop 1 tablet in a half glass of water. Watch it fizz! By using this liquid as a mouthwash and dentifrice, you can combat decay, avoid painful extractions and annoying dentures.

Money-Back Guarantee
Buy a package of AMMO-VESS tablets and use them for ten days. If at any time during that period, you are not completely satisfied with AMMO-VESS, return the unused tablets, and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

AMMO-VESS, a Mouthwash
In addition to its effective dentifrice action, AMMO-VESS is also a pleasant-tasting mouthwash. It removes the discomfort and bad taste of "smoker's-mouth," and leaves the mouth clean and refreshed. Used daily, as a dentifrice and a mouthwash, the ingredients of AMMO-VESS give your teeth the protection that dentists say helps guard against tooth decay.

WHY USE AMMO-VESS?
Because new AMMO-VESS is so handy to carry around, so pleasant to use and so helpful in guarding against tooth decay, you'll make it a part of your regular dental hygiene.

Indies To Clash With St. Margaret At Flaherty Field Friday Night

Saints Lead City League By One Game

Shelar To Oppose Either Barbato Or Bucchioni On 'Hill'

Fans from all sections of the city, plus many from rural districts, will flock to Flaherty Field Friday night to see whether the Lawrence Indies will unseat St. Margaret as City League leaders.

At present the Saints head the league by one game. The Indies and Saints each have captured 20 games but the Indies have dropped one more than the Saints, of four to three for St. Margaret.

The Universal occupy third place and the Ecclesians fourth position.

Johnny Razzano, manager of St. Margaret and Hoss Zidow, boss of the Indies, expect to start their aces on the hill. This morning Razzano said he was in doubt whether to start Bucchioni or Barbato, while Shelar may be looked upon as Zidow's ace in the hole. Razzano also has Barbato to use, if he desires.

However, should Razzano start Bucchioni and Zidow send Shelar to the hill, fans will see two ex-Mid-Atlantic League hurlers in action.

DeFelice will go behind the bat for the Saints, while Semansky is practicaly certain to draw the catching ment for the Indies.

The game will start at 8 o'clock and popular prices will prevail. A war bond will be awarded to someone who attends the game.

LaMotta Easily Defends Title Against Mitri, Faces Robinson

(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 13.—Jake La Motta faced an unhealthy future named Ray Robinson today as a reward for defending his middleweight title with considerable windmilling of the arms against Tiberio Mitri of Trieste.

The prospect of having to fight Robinson, which the National Boxing Association says La Motta must do within 90 days, might frighten a lesser man. Some of Jake's detractors, having witnessed his unanimous decision conquest of Mitri at steamy Madison Square Garden last night, still consider him a lesser man.

"I jabbed him, di'n I?" Jake inquired of the admiring multitude that entered his dressing room through a large policeman's legs following the 15-rounder. "That's the way you fight him. He swings outside, like this, so you jab him two times—twict—and that puts him off balance. See?"

Crowd Of 16,369

In the loser's dressing room, Mitri's manager, Saverio Turiello, said it was just a matter of Tiberio's not having had enough experience in an American ring. The crowd of 16,369, which paid an unexpectedly hefty $99,841 at the gate, was inclined to agree.

Not to put off the inevitable, that brings the subject back to Robinson, the welterweight champ and the most awesome object in the ring today.

Ray's immediate future includes a defense of his Pennsylvania middleweight title against Jose Basora and a defense of his welterweight title against Charlie Fusari. This will entail either a stirring change of weight on Robinson's part or a crooked set of scales.

Anyway, the NBA says firmly La Motta must put his title on the block against Sugar Ray.

Eagles Take Lead In Sylvan Heights Golf League Race

New Castle Eagles' strong fairways dusters took over the lead in the Sylvan Heights Golf league Wednesday evening when the Shamrocks, who have been leading the pack most of the season, were humbled by the Universal-Rundle team, 10½-1½, while the Eagles, who have been been maintaining a steady pace all summer, defeated United Engineering 11-7.

The Shamrocks dropped into fourth place as a result of last night's matches, while the Eagles hopped out ahead by five points over American Cleaners, who clipped Iafrets, 7½-4½. In other matches, Morellas won from Germanis, 7-5, and Castle Club tripped Johnson Bronze by a similar score. Shenango Pottery drove into third place by defeating New Castle Store 10½-1½.

The leadership will be determined with next week's matches, after which there will be a Shaughnessy playoff for the title between the first four teams.

Jimmy Gaione, one of the city's steady little golfers, was medalist with a sub-par round of 34. J. Schneider, E. Gunther, Ed Kardish, Harry Toscano and Fred Lombardo had 37's; Ezz Palmer, Jimmy Dart, Chuck Rae and Francis Clause had 38's, and Ollie West, Hank Carbone, Goclano, P. Blair, Fred Palmer, George Sargent and Stan Bukowski had 39's.

The official standing at the end of the semi-final game, is as follows:

New Castle Eagles 73½, American Cleaners 68½, Shenango Pottery 67½, Shamrocks 65½, Universal-Rundle 65, Castle Club 62, Iafrets 62, Morellas 60, Germanis 51½, Johnson Bronze 50, New Castle Store 32½.

In the final matches next week Morellas meet Johnson Bronze, Eagles meet New Castle Store, Shenango Pottery plays the Shamrocks, Universal-Rundle plays American Cleaners, and Iafrets meet Germanis.

Costner Wins From Williams

Champion Loses By Wide Margin

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—(INS)—George (Sugar) Costner, a welterweight with jet-powered gloves, blitzed his way to national prominence by winning a 10-round decision over lightweight champion Ike Williams last night in a non-title contest.

Some 10,000 fans who poured in a gross of $41,970.75 roared in disbelief as the Camden, N. J., slugger ripped into the Trenton champion with rights to the body and punishing hooks to the head.

Unanimous Decision

The decision was unanimous. Referee Dave Beloff and judge Lou Tress scored the match 8 to 2 and judge Frank Knaresborough saw it all the way for the battering Costner.

The defeat was the first for Williams in 13 bouts since he was outpointed by Kid Gavilan in New York on April 1, 1949.

Williams weighed 143 and Costner 147 for the match which was delayed two nights because of rain.

Senators Cling To Slight Lead As Erie Tars Shut Them Out, 6 To 0; Oil City Refiners Win Two Games

New Castle's tenure as leaders of the "Mad"-Atlantic league almost came to an end last night as they lost a 6-0, four-hitter, to Clark Mains and the Erie Gobs.

New Castle leads by five percentage points today .662 to .657 for the Oil City Refiners, who won a twin-bill at Niagara Falls last night—19-11 and 5-4, for their tenth straight win, in the past week and a half.

Tonight the Senators will attempt to salvage the final game of the current Erie series by sending Herb Churchill (10-3) to the mound to oppose Fred Carpen.

"Ladies' Day" Game Tonight

The game tonight has been billed as a "Ladies' Day" game and no doubt quite a number of the fair sex will take advantage of the night to watch the Senators in action, providing the weatherman is so inclined. A crowd of over 800 sat in the stands last night and watched the whitewashing job.

The Erie Sailors in the throes of a winning streak are only four games off the pace and coming along like diesel engines. Butler trounced Youngstown last night 16 to 3 to creep up to 5½ games off the beaten path.

Erie not only won the ball game, but also made a clean sweep in the speed and skill contests that preceded the game, winning all four first places. Milt Kress in the base-circling 14:7 seconds, Kress first in the dash, Gene Muller first in the center-field to home throwing contest, and Nick Testa in the catcher to second base throw.

Golich-Rambin Hit Homers

The fans saw two terrific home run clouts last night by Erie players—Johnny Golich, his 12th of the year in the third inning with the sacks empty and one by Peyton "Ray" Rambin in the sixth with mate Gene Muller aboard. Golich hit his round-tripper over the left-field wall, Rambin over the same spot, incidentally this man Rambin had three hits last night—a homer, double and single. Weise had two hits, a triple and single.

Erie had 10 hits off of Ben Rossman (9-3), who settled down after a shaky first inning start, getting out of a bad hole, after allowing one run on one hit, a triple by Weise and a walk. Rossman never allowed more than two hits in any one inning, and did a swell job in the fourth, after filling the bases with no outs, to retire the side runless, as a result of a double-play and a strikeout. The twin-killing was Rossman to Horne to Vizzini, on a roller to the mound.

Leave 12 Men Stranded

The Senators definitely lacked "clutch hitting" last night, leaving 12 men stranded on the base paths, eight in the first innings. Over the final five innings Mains did not allow a hit. The Senators had men on base by walks in the last five innings four times, but could not advance them. This was the second time that Mains has handed the Senators a defeat, on their home soil. Mains walked nine men, and Rossman walked five. Each hurler fanned two men.

Scotch Night Game Monday

Next Monday night will be "Scotch Night" at the ball park the men and women paying but 25 cents to gain admittance while children under 12 pay but 10 cents.

Tuesday night will be "gigantic fireworks night" with a half hour display following the game with Niagara Falls.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

WHEN QUESTIONED by Here & There today concerning the catching of crabs or bait-fish, Robert Betts, fish protector, stated that the law says they shall be taken by net or seine. He said that, so far, he has not made any arrest for taking crabs by hand. He said it is not illegal to catch crabs at night. Up to now, most fishermen have used only their hands to catch crabs. They point out that when a net or seine is used, the same are lifted onto shore. Some crabs get back to water but it is possible some do not. It is possible this problem may be considered by the Lawrence County Sportsman's association at their next meeting because few fishermen use nets or seines to take crabs.

HERE AND THERE— ImOTt ETAOIN

FRED HANEY, manager of the Hollywood Stars, will succeed Burt Shotton as pilot of the parent Brooklyn Dodgers next year—if not before—Columnist Vincent X. Flaherty predicted recently in the Los Angeles Examiner. "Haney might leave any day and take charge of the Brooklyn Dodgers," Flaherty wrote. "It all depends upon Shotton's health. If the present Brooklyn manager can stand the strain of the long, hard season ahead, then Haney will take the Brooklyn job next year, with Shotton moving up into the front office." Flaherty's prediction followed a visit to Hollywood by Branch Rickey Jr., who "has been talking with Haney about the possibilities of switching to Brooklyn." . . . Could Babe Ruth hit a longer ball than any other slugger, past or present? That question has been debated for years by managers, players, sports writers and fans. Many give the palm to Ruth, but there are others who contend that Jimmie Foxx, Hank Greenberg, Ted Williams or Ralph Kiner could hit a ball as far as the Bambino. The late Walter Johnson, who shied from these debates, nevertheless, when pressed, tossed in a vote for Ruth as the longest hitter, and in characteristic Johnson fashion. "I don't know who hit the longest ball," Johnson used to say, "but I can tell you one thing I always noticed—the balls Ruth hit always got smaller faster than anybody else's, on their way out of the park."

Softball-Baseball Game Ends In Tie

Klenotic and Ross hit home runs. Koltz started on the mound for the baseballers and was relieved by Conti. Spanish started for the softballers and was relieved by Santangelo.

A fine crowd was on hand for the game, which also featured a drawing for a victory bond. All proceeds went to Tom Del Prince who was injured in a baseball game earlier in the season.

Williams Out For One Month

BOSTON, July 13.—(INS)—Red Sox slugger Ted Williams will be out of the lineup for a month and possibly for the rest of the season with a fractured left elbow suffered when he crashed into the left field fence in the first inning of Tuesday's all-star game.

Williams will undergo surgery today for removal of bone fragments at Santa Maria hospital, in Boston.

Dr. Joseph Shortell will perform the operation, assisted by Dr Ralph McCarthy, Red Sox club physician.

Clyde Vollmer will replace Ted in left field and will also hold down Ted's third spot in the batting order.

Dr. Shortell said X-rays taken at the office of Dr. Paul Butler showed a fracture of the "head of the left radius."

New York Stocks

Stock Market Prices Lower

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—The stock market sustained new losses of fractions to more than a point under continued selling pressure.

The list had opened fairly steady with many issues edging slightly higher for a time. Early in the second hour, however, selling picked up and leading stocks were hammered to new low ground on the decline. The ticker fell one minute behind for a short spell.

Allied Chemical which had tumbled 12 points yesterday rallied a point to 209.

Rail issues continued to buck the general downtrend. Atchison was a strong spot with a gain of a point to 112¾ and Southern Pacific rose ⅛ to 55⅛.

Demand for rail liens featured an irregular bond market.

Cotton featured commodities with a rise of $1 a bale. Wheat and corn edged slightly higher.

Clergyman Blasts Horse Racing As Fund Raising Means

NEWTON HAMILTON, Pa., July 13.—(INS)—Proponents of horse racing as a means of raising commonwealth funds were under attack today by the Rev. Melvin M. Forney, prominent Philadelphia clergyman.

Rev. Forney criticized Vice President Alben W. Barkley and the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor for endorsing horse racing in an address yesterday to the federated legislative committee.

He declared that a "campaign of tremendous proportions backed by the combined influence of the liquor interests, the gambling ring and the forces in favor of a 'liberal' Sunday is taking place" in Pennsylvania.

He said:

"According to reports which we have received, encouragement such as (Barkley's and the PFL's) has rendered it easy for the forces seeking to debauch the morals of our commonwealth to gain support and raise money."

Rev. Forney urged voters to support candidates "committed to christian principles and morality" in next November's elections.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

In the heyday of the Klondike gold rush, one of the most accomplished and unscrupulous gamblers who made his headquarters in Skagway was named Soapy Smith. Smith hung a sign outside his honky-tonk proclaiming "telegraph office." Homesick miners paid anywhere from five to fifty dollars apiece to send wires to their loved ones. With speed that would have seemed suspicious to wiser heads, replies came back—collect—assuring the poor fish that the loved ones missed them about two hundred words' worth. The fact of the matter was that there was no telegraph wire within a hundred miles of Skagway. Soapy composed the telegrams himself.

According to Alva Johnston, the young minister of Skagway sought funds to erect a log church. Soapy Simth contributed a thousand dollars and urged fellow-townsmen to do likewise. When the gratified clergyman had run his funds up to thirty thousand dollars, Soapy's gang stole it all from him. Said Soapy's friend, Wilson Mizner, compalcently, "Thirty-six for one is darn good odds."

Johnston will incorporate these and other Soapy Smith legends in a book he is preparing on the life of Wilson Mizner and his Klondike cronies.

People May Demand A Second Debut Of The Player Piano

CHICAGO, July 13.—(INS)—America's musical clock turned back 25 years today and music industry spokesmen said 1950's hepcats are jumping to the plink-plank-plunks of player pianos.

Exhibitors at the 49th annual music industry trade show at Chicagos' Palmer House said people no longer are content just to listen to music—that they want to play. And what's easier than flicking the lever of a player piano.

The first player piano manufactured a quarter of a century has been placed on exhibition at the industry show and orders are rolling in.
